Manhunt ends in arrest of suspect

A hard-working detective finally nailed a suspect in a string of break-ins this week.

Detective John Smith, who has been on the job for several years, was called to 123 Main Street early this morning. The burglar had broken into the store, causing damage estimated at $10,000.

Smith, after hours of painstaking investigation, was able to piece together the evidence and make an arrest. The suspect, John Doe, was caught after a brief chase and is now in custody.

Cop arrested for drug possession

A local detective officer was arrested this week for drug possession.

The officer, James Brown, was caught with a large amount of marijuana during a routine traffic stop. He is currently being held in the county jail awaiting trial.

Activities planned for homecoming week

Carthage High School will be celebrating its annual homecoming week this year. The activities will include a parade, a football game, and a dance.

The parade will be held on Saturday afternoon, followed by the football game at 7:00 PM. The dance will be held on Saturday night.

CISD considers softball request

The CISD board has been considering a request for additional funding for the softball team. The request has been met with mixed reactions from the community.

The board will hold a special meeting next week to discuss the matter further.

Life, times of first probate judge in Panola County
Know Your Heritage

by Joie R. LeGrand

The first probate judge for Panola County, in 1836, was James Wheeler. Wheeler, along with his wife, Mary, had successfully navigated the challenges of settling in the district, establishing a home, and raising a family. Their journey was marked by resilience and determination, equipped with faith and hope for a brighter future.

Mary, known for her strong will and resourcefulness, played an integral role in the family's success. Her courage was evident in the way she navigated daily chore as a wife and mother. Despite the hardships, her faith remained unwavering, which served as a comfort in navigating the uncertain times.

CJHS to follow mum tradition

Carthage Junior High School will join the celebration of homecoming by having a mum tradition when dressing in the colors at CJHS.

The school observes the following policies for mum and coronation:

1. Students will be allowed to wear mums or coronations during the Mum and Coronation Day.
2. No mums or coronations will be allowed.
3. No deviation from names or coronations will be allowed during Mum and Coronation Day.
4. Students required to attend school should arrive in the administration office with a note provided to the office personnel.
5. Students will be allowed to pick up mums "on the go" during the Mum and Coronation Day on Thursday and Friday during recess and free periods.

University of Texas at Tyler, enrolling in physical therapy, will be attended by Bethel Harvey.
