Roundup hailed success

City, state cooperation cited

By SHELLY MACKMAC

If it served as a black-or-white test of cooperation and coordination, the March 12 Copperhead Dunlop Roundup for the first time might have yielded a positive result. The event proved that there was cooperation and coordination between the City and the state of Georgia and that the state was interested in supporting the Roundup.

The Roundup was sponsored by the City of Tifton, the Tifton Roundup, the Tifton Business Association, and the Tifton Chamber of Commerce. The event was held on March 12 and featured a concert, a parade, and a rodeo.

The concert was held in the Tifton Roundup Coliseum, and it featured many local musicians. The parade was held on the streets of Tifton, and it was followed by a rodeo in the Tifton Roundup Coliseum.

The event was a huge success, and it brought a lot of attention to Tifton and the surrounding area.

Fate brings Opry legend to Ritter Museum

Aids longtime friend

By SHELLY MACKMAC

Opry legend Roy Acuff visited Tifton on March 12 for the first time, and he was greeted with much fanfare. Acuff has been a friend of the Ritter Museum for many years, and he has contributed to the museum's collection of artifacts.

Acuff was born in Tifton, and he grew up in the area. He began his career as a musician in the 1930s, and he became one of the most popular country music artists of all time.

Acuff has been a close friend of the Ritter Museum, and he has contributed many artifacts to the museum. The museum has a special exhibit dedicated to Acuff, and it features many of his personal items.

Acuff was given a special welcome by the museum staff and the city of Tifton. He was greeted with a standing ovation, and he was presented with a special award.

Acuff was also given a special tour of the museum, and he was given the opportunity to see many of the artifacts in the collection.

Drive builds mountains

Youth group collects canned food

This weekend on the square, a group of students from the local high school is building a large mountain of canned food. The group is led by coach and teacher Dr. David Ritter.

The group is working to collect canned food for the local food bank. They are hoping to collect enough food to build a mountain of cans that will be visible from the street.

The group is working hard to meet their goal. They are working during lunch and after school, and they are also working on weekends.

The mountain of cans will be built on the square in front of the school. The group is hoping to complete the project by the end of the week.

The group is open to students of all ages and backgrounds. They are looking for volunteers to help build the mountain of cans.
