Drug free with Red Ribbon Week

Observance remembers murder of DEA agent

The death of a police officer in the war against drugs has inspired a special effort to fight drug usage.

Ralph Albritton, a former assistant commissioner for the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, was murdered in the line of duty. Albritton was a key figure in the battle against drug trafficking and his death shocked the nation. He was the first to be killed in the line of duty, and his murder served as a stark reminder of the dangers faced by those who fight against drugs.

Beckyville schools launch new D-FY-T program

Beckyville students will be seeing new ways to stay drug-free.

During the week of Oct 26, the district will launch their new D-FY-T program. D-FY-T stands for Drug-Free Youth Through Awareness and Education. The program is designed to help students recognize the dangers of drugs, resist peer pressure, and make informed choices.

Counselors and teachers will have a busy week, with a variety of activities planned to spread the word about drugs and the dangers they pose. They will also support students in making healthy choices and in recognizing the negative impact of drug use. The program aims to empower students to take control of their lives and make wise decisions.

In Beckyville, the D-FY-T initiative will be a call to arms, with teachers and students working together to create a drug-free environment. Winning will be a team effort, with each student playing an active role in promoting a drug-free school culture.

Insurance of Beckyville's D-FY-T program begins in the mission of a Peace-One-Days D-FY-T project, with schools in Beckyville, Texas, working with Peace-One-Days staff to ensure that each student is aware of the dangers of drug use.

Members of the Beckyville High School student council perform "The Spoon-Slinger Blues" before the week's events. Football games are a special treat in the annual event, and many players who are members of the choir to perform before the games.

CISD to take action on TAAS test scores

A new initiative and a plan to improve TAAS results is set for action in the coming weeks.

Local schools will receive data from the STAAR program, and teachers will work with students to develop strategies to improve test scores. The goal is to ensure that all students are prepared for success.

Beckyville's schools have a history of success in this area, with students consistently exceeding state standards. Teachers will continue to work with their students to help them reach their full potential.

If you are interested in learning more about the TAAS program or how you can support your local schools, contact your school district or visit the Texas Education Agency website.

Tough talk on drug abuse

Program focuses on consequences

When substance abuse becomes a problem, the consequences can be severe.

When substance abuse becomes a problem, the consequences can be severe. The effects on personal health, family, and society can be devastating. It is important to address the issue early and provide support to those in need.

As part of the Drug-Free Week agenda, Beckyville schools will focus on the consequences of drug use. Students will be encouraged to think about the real-world implications of their choices.

In Beckyville, the special week will include discussions about the legal, financial, and social consequences of drug use. Students will learn about the impact on their own lives and on those around them.

Wells, a two-year-old who suffers fromanencephaly, has learned the importance of avoiding substances that could affect her development. Her parents have worked hard to ensure that she receives the best care possible.

"Most people who are in chronic pain have to rely on the public system," she said.

\"The Department of Public Safety,\" she said, "is doing their best to help those in need.\"

First superintendent helped develop district

By Linda L. Leckrone

The family grew on the farm and was always interested in education. Their son, who would become the first superintendent in the district, was a strong influence on the family's educational goals. He attended school until he was 12, when he left to work on the farm. After a few years, he decided to return to school and eventually became a teacher. He helped develop the district by providing leadership and guidance, and his dedication to education made a lasting impact on the community.

Taking time out for the future
Sixth graders look ahead to memories

By Laura Shreve

The sixth grade students are looking forward to a new school year and the challenges it brings. They are excited to make new friends and learn new things, but they also have their worries. They worry about fitting in, making good grades, and making the right choices. They are also looking forward to the social aspect of the new year, such as sports, clubs, and parties. Overall, they are ready for the new year and excited to see what it has in store for them.
At Our House Of Worship
It's People Helping People

Many members of the congregation at your House of Worship are quite likely to be engaged in volunteer efforts to help those less fortunate than themselves. One group of people is the Food, clothes, and other items, and other items for the needy, especially at holiday times.

Another vital contribution comes from the women of the Dorcus Circle. At their own expense, they put their talents to work, making beautifully designed quilts, lap robes and other items, and distributing them to the poor.

They are always looking for new members, and if you thread a needle and have some time on your hands, you could probably qualify. What ever all these unselfish, dedicated people do with their time, money and effort, they represent the finest example and result of the teachings of faith at your House of Worship.

He who helps in the saving of others saves himself.
