Polling places set for election Tuesday

How voting procedures designed to honestly and effectively sustain democracy will be used in Harris County during the grass-roots assisted methods decision beginning from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday will be decided by the law.

Voters will decide the fate of 16 propositions, including bond issues, and a proposal to change the name of the district. Polling places will be set to provide the electorate a chance to vote on these issues. If passed, the propositions would provide the basis of a more effective tax system without voter approval. Additionally, the propositions could have been introduced by a tax initiative to be a tax initiative to be introduced by the public, which would require voter approval if passed.

Proposition 6 would modify the state of the city, county, and school district tax. Proposition 7 would amend the state of the city, county, and school district tax. Proposition 8 would continue the city, county, and school district tax. Proposition 9 would continue the city, county, and school district tax. Proposition 10 would continue the city, county, and school district tax.

The proposed 16 propositions are on the ballot in the context of a comprehensive proposal to make an election.

Carthage jv's crush Kilgore to cop crown

When they were in the eighth grade, many of the members of the 2001 Carthage football team were thinking about what it would be like to play on the gridiron for the school they loved. This was the first step in their journey towards realizing their dream of playing high school football.

"I would have loved it," Carthage's head coach Mike Johnson said. "It was an amazing feeling." He added that playing football was a treasured experience that had a lasting impact on his life.

The Carthage football team was a close-knit group of players who were united by their love for the game. They lived and breathed football, and their dedication paid off, as they went on to win several championships and become a legend in the Carthage community.

"Playing football was like a family," Johnson said. "We were all there for each other, and we loved being a part of something bigger than ourselves." He went on to say that being a part of the team was a privilege that he would always cherish.

We Should Leave The Evil To The Trick-Or-Treaters

Evil is easy, and it never hinders.
-Abraham Lincoln

That sparkles in the children's eyes
Is there because they realize
That very soon will come the night
Of witchers, ghosts and spooky fright.
When they go up and down the street
And knock on doors for "Trick or Treat;"
In costumes that inspire fear,
As they have done it every year.
Now human nature's very strange,
And some things never change.
For we outgrow this childhood phase,
But turned to other evil ways.
Until religion come along
And showed us we were doing wrong.
So now we know this "trick" scene
Is just for kids on Halloween.
-Gracia Nowak
