Physician on probation from state medical board

Hearing to be scheduled for Swale

By SHERRY MANCHAC

A formal complaint against Dr. Robert M. Swale, a pediatrician in Ponchatoula, has been filed with the Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners.

Swale, who has been licensed to practice medicine in Louisiana since 1965, has been placed on probation for three years by the board.

The complaint alleges that Swale violated state laws by failing to report certain medical conditions to the state board.

The case was referred to the board by the Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners.

Swale has denied the allegations and said he will fight the charges in court.

Outlook good for deer hunters

New regulations enforced

By SHIRLEY MANCHAC

Deer hunters in Louisiana can expect a good season this year, according to the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The department has implemented new regulations to improve the deer hunting experience.

One of the new regulations is the establishment of a new deer season, which will run from November 1 to December 31.

Hunters are encouraged to review the new regulations before the season begins.

The Sheriff's Report

Our readers write...

We’ve heard it before and we’ll hear it again: open government is not only the right thing to do, but it’s also good for business. When you have an open and transparent government, you create a level playing field for all businesses to compete in. This not only benefits consumers, but it also helps businesses in terms of competitiveness and growth.

In the case of the online marketplace, there are a few reasons why open government is beneficial to businesses. First, when you have clear and open rules, it allows businesses to plan and strategize. This can lead to increased innovation and competitiveness. Second, when you have transparency, it allows businesses to see and understand the marketplace. This can help them make better decisions and avoid unnecessary risks.

However, there are also some challenges with open government. One of the main challenges is the protection of sensitive information. For example, when you have a company透露 most about the development of a new product, this information may be valuable to competitors. But if you share too much, it can lead to leaks and theft of intellectual property.

Another challenge is the potential for misuse or manipulation of data. For example, if you have a government agency that collects personal information, this data can be used for various purposes. If this data is not properly protected, it can be used for malicious purposes, such as identity theft or fraud.

In conclusion, open government is not only the right thing to do, but it’s also good for business. When you have clear and open rules, it allows businesses to plan and strategize. This can lead to increased innovation and competitiveness. However, there are also some challenges with open government, such as the protection of sensitive information and the potential for misuse or manipulation of data. It’s important to balance these two aspects to ensure that open government is both beneficial and secure.

Carthage jvs developed into champions

PROJECTED - The development of the Carthage junior varsity football team was one of the more remarkable stories of the season. The team, which started out as a 6-4-1 club, finished as the state's Class B state champions.

The team's success, according to coach John Reader, was due to hard work and dedication. "They have really worked hard, and they have really improved as a team," Reader said. "They're a lot better than they were last year, and they will continue to improve in the future."
Seek perfect 15-AAAA record in season finale

Dog frosch have one more goal to attain

Ongkot Sopikom, the coach of the Dog frosch, has set his sights on the perfect 15-AAAA record for the season. The team has been working hard to achieve this goal, and they are currently 14-2 and looking to improve.

The current standings show the Dog frosch in second place, just one game behind the leader. With three games left in the season, the team knows they must win all three to secure the top spot.

The squad has been practicing diligently, focusing on their weaknesses and preparing for the challenging games ahead. The team has been led by star players like John Doe and Jane Smith, who have been instrumental in their success.

"We have a tough road ahead," said Sopikom. "But we are determined to achieve our goal."
