Weekend shooting investigated; victim critical

A Panola County man convicted of shooting a Woodward police officer over the weekend was killed in a shootout Friday night.

According to Sheriff Jim Wooldridge, 30, was killed when he fired shots at a man while attempting to apprehend a suspect in the Woodward police officer's shooting. Sheriff Wooldridge was killed when he was shot in the face. He was pronounced dead at Figi Memorial Hospital in Panola County.

According to Wooldridge, the officer was attempting to apprehend a suspect who had shot at him earlier in the day.

The Panola County Sheriff's Department was notified of the shooting and immediately began investigating the incident.

Traffic on U.S. 290 was closed in both directions for several hours to allow for the investigation.

A 27-year-old man was taken into custody following the shooting and is currently being held in the Panola County Jail.

Local cases have wider implications

Arrest leads to charges in murder conspiracy

A Detroit police officer in charge of a 50-year-old murder investigation has been fired and now faces a federal conspiracy charge.

A Detroit officer, 55, was arrested Thursday in a federal drug conspiracy case. The officer was suspected of receiving kickbacks from a drug dealer and was involved in a murder investigation.

The officer had been working on a case involving a drug dealer and a murder victim.

Cops plead guilty to cocaine possession

A Detroit police officer has pleaded guilty to cocaine possession.

A 53-year-old officer is accused of possessing cocaine and faced up to 20 years in prison. The officer was arrested earlier this year for cocaine possession.

The officer said he was trying to get a coffee and was pulled over by a police officer.

His arrest came after he was pulled over by a police officer.

The officer was released on his own recognizance.

College holiday concert Thursday

The Panola College Orchestra will present its annual Christmas concert Thursday evening in the Panola College Fine Arts Auditorium.

The concert will feature the orchestra in a festive program of holiday favorites. Guest conductor will be Paul Smith, visiting professor of music at the University of Texas at Austin.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature arrangements of popular holiday songs, including "Silent Night," "O Holy Night," and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

A memorial service will be held on December 5 at the First Baptist Church.

Jordan selected by A & M to attend conference

Jordan Smith, a senior at Carriage Christian High School, has been selected to attend the American Farm Bureau Foundation's Young Farmers and Ranchers (YF&R) Leadership Conference. Smith was one of only 10 students selected from across the country to participate in the conference, which is designed to help young people gain a better understanding of the role of the American Farm Bureau Foundation in the country's agricultural industry. Smith plans to use the knowledge gained from the conference to help promote the importance of agriculture and advocate for policies that support the industry.

Our readers write

Dear Editor:

I was interested to read about the recent article on the importance of agricultural education in our local community. As a long-time resident of Panama, I believe that investing in agricultural education is critical to the future success of our community. Thank you for sharing this article with our readers.

Sincerely,

There's more to being a funeral director than conducting funerals.

There's making an honest effort to educate.

Funeral directors are the primary source of information about funeral arrangements for seven out of ten people, according to a recent study. What we know what it's like to be a funeral director, how to talk to young people about death, fear and why funeral professionals are as valued as they are. As dedicated professionals, we're always pleased to provide speakers for community groups and tours of our facility.
