There's a major difference between a funeral home that will go out of the way and one that is just simply out of the way.

A firm that does everything possible to help knows the importance of a funeral home’s accessibility. Many families take advantage of our convenient downtown location to step by over their lunch break or right after work. At Hawthorn, you can pay your respects and sign a register book at a time that fits with your schedule.

There is a need for a family to have a documented history of the individual who has passed. This helps in the grieving process.
