Beloved Panola County pastor chronicled
Know Your Heritage

Lutheran Church

In a historic church building that has stood the test of time, the legacy of Rev. C. W. "Bud" McWhorter lives on. McWhorter was the pastor of the Church of God in Carthage for over 50 years, and his influence is still felt today.

Bud McWhorter was born on November 10, 1921, in Carthage, the son of Rev. J. W. McWhorter and Ethel McWhorter. He was educated at Howard College in Huntsville, Alabama, and received his degree in Divinity from the American Baptist Seminary in Chicago.

After serving as a pastor in various churches, McWhorter was called to the Church of God in Carthage in 1955. He served as pastor for over 50 years, until his retirement in 2005. During his time in the pulpit, McWhorter was known for his strong faith and his commitment to his congregation.

McWhorter was a man of prayer, and he was often seen kneeling before the altar with his hands outstretched, seeking the guidance of the divine. He was also known for his love of music, and he was a skilled organist.

In addition to his pastoral duties, McWhorter was involved in many community activities. He was a member of the Carthage Jaycees and the Carthage Chamber of Commerce. He also served as a deacon in the Church of God at Carthage.

Bud McWhorter passed away on February 2, 2008, leaving a legacy of faith and service that will be remembered for generations to come.

Cook ignites ninth-inning rally with RBI hit and winning run

Ponies bite growing Dogs in loop war

Will Cook had some things to work on in the ninth inning. But the Ponies didn't have the same impression.

The game went to the 10th inning, with the Ponies leading 3-2. Cook went on to hit an RBI single, and the Ponies won 4-3.

Ponies are growing in the loop war, and the Dogs are not doing so well.

The Ponies have been hitting well, and the Dogs' pitching has been struggling. The Ponies have scored 27 runs in their last 10 games, while the Dogs have scored only 14.

But the Dogs are not out of it yet. They have two more games left in the loop war, and they are determined to come back.

If it's worth doing it's worth doing right

I wish. They're too many people who don't understand the meaning of the word 'right'.

If you don't have enough money to buy your books, you should get a job. It's worth doing it right. If you have enough money, but you don't know where to spend it, you should put it in the bank. It's worth doing it right.

Panola romps, 7-3, in Navarro opener

Panola lost its shutout bid in eighth

IN THE 8TH INNING, Panola's defense held off Navarro's scoring threat, but the game ended with a 7-3 score in favor of Panola. The loss was a significant setback for the team, as it had been performing well in previous games. The game was held at the Panola Athletic Complex, where the home team was expected to win. However, despite their efforts, Navarro managed to score against Panola's defense.

Panola's first baseman, Michael Johnson, hit a home run in the fourth inning, leading to their first point. The team continued to score throughout the game, with Johnson contributing significantly to their lead. The game was well-attended, with many fans showing up to support their team. The atmosphere was electric, with fans cheering loudly and passionately.

In the ninth inning, Navarro's center fielder, Adam Smith, hit a home run, bringing the score closer to Panola's. However, thePanola team managed to hold up, securing their lead. The game ended with Navarro's last attempt at scoring, which was unfortunately unsuccessful.

Panola's pitcher, Lee Richardson, performed exceptionally well, allowing only a few points to be scored. His performance was a testament to the team's overall strength and dedication. The game was a significant milestone for Panola, as they continued to strive for excellence in their athletic pursuits.

The fans were excited and enthusiastic throughout the game, with many displaying their support through creative signs and chants. The atmosphere was electric, with fans cheering loudly and passionately.

Panola's head coach, Tom Wilson, praised his team for their hard work and dedication, stating that they had put in a lot of effort and training to achieve such a result. He expressed his pride in the team's performance and look forward to their next game.

The game was a thrilling experience for all involved, with fans, players, and coaches alike enjoying the competitive spirit. Panola's performance was a reminder of their commitment to excellence and their ability to rise to the occasion.
Your Library Is Free, But Its Value Is Incalculable

Libraries are not mad; they grow.
—Augustine Birrell

One great asset of all but the smallest of towns is the public library, filled with books containing a world of information and entertainment. These books consist of fiction and an endless collection of non-fiction on many subjects, including instructions on how to do practically everything.

There are records and tapes of your favorite music, and in many cases, videotapes. Best of all, there is no charge for borrowing these materials, provided they are returned on time, and even then, renewal may be arranged. Thank God for all the wonderful things that time, money, and effort have provided for you at your public library.
