Lake lease owners face property tax

Lake lease owners who live on Lake Travis will be charged an additional $500 tax, according to the Travis County Appraiser. The assessment is based on the appraisal of the property.

The appraisal will be based on the property's value, which will be determined by the Travis County Appraisal District. The assessment will be made on the same day as the appraisal.

The Travis County Appraisal District is responsible for assessing the value of all properties in the county, including lake leases. The assessment is used to determine the property tax rate and the amount of tax paid by each property owner.

Chairman's words spark angry exchange

By LAURA NEUGE

A motion on the agenda sparked a heated debate at the May 5 meeting of the Travis County Commissioners Court. The motion, which was introduced by Commissioner Cook, was to approve the construction of a new courthouse for Travis County.

During the debate, Commissioner Cook argued that the new courthouse was necessary to accommodate the growing population of Travis County. However, Commissioner Cook's motion was opposed by Commissioner Bocchino, who argued that the courthouse was not necessary and that the money should be used to fund other projects.

The debate quickly turned ugly, with both sides calling each other names and making personal attacks. The meeting was eventually adjourned due to the heated exchanges.

Con artists preying on elderly victims

Two elderly Travis County residents have fallen victim to a phone scam.

The two individuals were approached by a caller who claimed to be a representative of the Social Security Administration. The caller claimed that the individuals were eligible for a large sum of money, and that they needed to wire the money to the caller in order to receive it.

However, the Social Security Administration does not make such calls. The two individuals were scammed out of a large sum of money.

The Travis County Sheriff's Office is warning residents to be on the lookout for such scams. They are advising residents to never wire money to anyone over the phone, and to verify the legitimacy of any caller before giving them personal information.

The phone number for the Travis County Sheriff's Office is 512-798-6300.
