Know Your Heritage

by Kerle R. Kiffmeyer

On Friday, the 11th, with a smile of delight, Zena Burroughs McElroy began her trip back to her home in Tallahassee. Her daughter, Carolyn Burroughs, had invited her for an educational vacation to Tallahassee.

The trip was made possible through the generosity of Carolyn Burroughs and the friendly staff of the Florida State University Library.

As Zena arrived, the air was filled with the aroma of antique books and the gentle hum of air conditioning.
A parade of cars followed Zena as she entered the library.

The library's visit was a huge success. Zena was always known for her love of reading and she was overjoyed to see so many books.

More people were clicking away at keyboards, searching for information and enjoying the library.

As Zena left the library,
the librarian said, "We hope Zena enjoys her visit and learns more about the Library of Congress.'"

Lady Dogs blow late lead
Byrd hands Carthage girls first defeat, 38-35

When Kathy Brecheen’s shot kissed the rim with 2.9 seconds left, Carthage girls coach Mike Williams knew his team was in trouble.

"I felt bad," Williams said. "I just didn’t want to lose to Byrd again."

The Lady Dogs were up by two with 2:15 left in the game, but Byrd’s Adrienne Byrd made a 3-pointer to tie the game. Byrd then took it into overtime, winning 51-49.

The Carthage girls were led by Jada Hinton with 21 points, while Byrd’s Adrienne Byrd had 25.

"We were down by two in overtime and we had some shots," Williams said. "But we just couldn’t make them."
