Corday objects to Nixon's tactics

By LAURA NEISH
Carriage mbedtls weke. Co. has been confirmed by the collector of this district as a member of the board of the River Authority. The city's last name was submitted as West, but it was clarified during the meeting. Bill 34 was filed by Sen. Cordy, at the request of the City of Bakersfield, in order to allow the city to enter into a contract. The bill is now under consideration by the authority given to Parker to act for the city of Bakersfield. Sen. Cordy told the meeting that the bill is intended to provide a more formal and structured process for the city to undertake such a project. The bill is scheduled for further consideration in the next day or two.

Revenue Service during the hearings to question the recording of certain payments.

"The committee met as a CPA," Nixon said. "We asked the committee to present a summary of the conference. The committee agreed that the conference was not intended to be a summary of the conference.
The point we made was that when the meetings were held, the most important thing was to keep the meetings from being interrupted.

Drug bust nets 54 lbs. marijuana in truck cab

By SHERRY KROON
A Bakersfield police detective has arrested a man who was found in possession of 54 pounds of marijuana. The man was traveling with his wife and daughter on Wednesday.

Maj. John Braden, head of the narcotics division, said the bust was part of an ongoing investigation into marijuana trafficking.

The detained man was found with the marijuana in a truck cab. It is not uncommon for law enforcement officials to come on the scene and make arrests without advance notice.

"Our partner on the scene," Braden said, "is the Bakersfield Police Department. The truck was stopped for a traffic violation, and officers found the marijuana when they searched the cab.

Young officers headed to camp
Program intended to build responsibility

By SHERRY KROON
Two groups of young officers will head to camp this month to start a new program intended to build responsibility and leadership.

The two groups, consisting of 20 officers each, will be selected from the Bakersfield Police Department and the Bakersfield Fire Department. The program, called the "Young Officer Leadership Program," will be held at a camp located in the San Joaquin Valley.

"We want to provide an opportunity for our young officers to develop their leadership skills and gain experience in a controlled environment," said Maj. John Braden, head of the narcotics division.

A week-long camp will be held from June 10 to 17. The officers will participate in various activities designed to build leadership and responsibility.

The program will include team-building exercises, leadership workshops, and problem-solving sessions. The officers will be divided into small groups and will work together to solve problems and make decisions.

"The goal is to give our young officers a chance to learn how to work together as a team and make decisions," Braden said.

The camp will also include guest speakers who will share their experiences in leadership and problem-solving.

"We want to make sure our young officers learn from real-life situations," Braden said.

The program is designed to help the officers develop skills that will be useful throughout their careers. The officers will also receive feedback on their performance during the camp.

"We hope the officers will come back with a new perspective on how to lead and manage," Braden said.

The program is open to all qualified officers who are interested in participating. Applications are due by May 31.

First Things First

By Dale Bruce

The weather was warm and sunny, perfect for a day at the beach. I woke up early and drove to the coast, where I had planned to spend the day with my friends. We set up our chairs and umbrellas, and started swimming and playing in the water. It was a great day, and we had a lot of fun.
