Fresh water gives board OK on spillway repairs

By LAURA NEGRE

Reported in work on the Lake Morris Dam, the Board of Commissioners has approved the $12,700 project to build a spillway at Lake Morris Dam. The project consists of the installation of a new spillway, which will allow excess water to flow safely from the lake. The new spillway will improve water management and help prevent flooding in the area.

Board approves new budget

A budget for the 1995-1996 fiscal year has been approved by the Board of Commissioners. The budget includes $225,000 for the upkeep of existing facilities, $100,000 for construction of new facilities, and $50,000 for general expenses. The budget also includes $50,000 for the purchase of new equipment and $50,000 for the hiring of additional staff.

Carthage housing starts decline

According to local officials, the number of new housing units started in Carthage has declined significantly in the past year. The decline in home building could be attributed to various factors, including economic conditions and changes in government regulations. Local officials are monitoring the situation closely and are working to address any issues that may arise.

Site selected for proposed recycling facility in Carthage

Site selected for proposed recycling facility in Carthage

By SHERRY ROGGIN

Receiving in work on the Carthage Dam and should be ready for implementation by the start of 2024. City Manager Charles Thomas announced that the city has received a $500,000 grant from the State Department of Environmental Quality to fund the construction of a recycling facility in Carthage. The facility will be located on the north side of the city and will process up to 500 tons of waste per week. The city hopes to have the facility operational by the end of 2024.

In the past several months, city officials have been working on several alternative options for the facility, including a location near the current waste transfer station. The final decision will be made after a public hearing is held in early June. The city is committed to providing quality recycling services to its residents and is working hard to ensure that the new facility meets the needs of the community.

Know Your Heritage by Leila B. LaGrone

As local school systems began to grow, the need for more teachers became apparent. Many town residents started to move to the city to find work, and this led to an increase in the number of students. In order to meet the growing demand for education, schools began to be built. The need for teachers became even more apparent as the population continued to grow.

Panola County Devotional Page

Let Your House Of Worship Be The Place To Cool Off

The word "cool" used to be merely a term to describe a moderate and usually pleasant temperature, but in recent years it has been adopted, first by children and teenagers, and now by adults, to denote anything good or enjoyable.

One example of this, particularly at this torrid time of year, might be, "Going to your House of Worship is the 'cool' thing to do." It is often the thing to do more ways than one. It is a good place in which to escape the heat, for the temperature there is refreshingly cool. In addition, you'll be inspired by its message, as you would be at any time of the year.

Faith does not stop for the summer, so do many other things. It's a plan for all seasons, including this one. So beat the heat at your House of Worship; it really is the 'cool' thing to do.

"Fear no more the heat of the sun." - William Shakespeare - Acts 1:19

Law defines Panola's service area
College's mission includes Marion, Harrison, Shelby counties

Legislation signed by the governor on Monday night, makes new rules for Panola College and other public institutions of higher education in the state. Legislation signed by the governor on Monday night, makes new rules for Panola College and other public institutions of higher education in the state.

Lettie said the law will allow the college to expand and to provide educational opportunities to more students. The new rules will allow Panola College to offer courses in Marion, Harrison, and Shelby counties.

The legislation also provides the college with the power to expand its facilities and to offer new programs of study. The college will be allowed to offer courses in areas such as nursing, business, and technology.

The legislation passed by the state legislature earlier this year. It was introduced by Rep. John Dooley, D-Clayton, and Sen. Hal Rogers, R-Ky.
