Narcotics task force back on county agenda

BY SHERREY KOONCE
Membership in the Tri-County Narcotics and Intelligence Task Force is back on the county agenda.

Although twice denied in the past by a majority of the Board of Supervisors, the Tri-County Narcotics and Intelligence Task Force is back on the county agenda. The Board of Supervisors is expected to vote on the matter during its regularly scheduled meeting Wednesday, Sept. 7. The three former members of the task force will be in attendance. The board's decision will most likely be the last appeal before the two sides sign a memorandum of understanding.

According to one source, the board's decision on Wednesday will provide the task force with a new lease on life.

"The county has a lot of work to do in the fight against narcotics," the source said. "The three former members of the task force have offered to help in any way possible. The county should jump at the chance to join with them in the fight against narcotics."

Know Your Heritage by Leila B. LaGone

Since I first was in the majority of my college classes, I have been very interested in the role of the college in the lives of its students.

The college provides the students with an opportunity to learn about their own heritage and to become involved in the social events of the campus.

I am a member of the college's student body and I am involved in most of the social events on campus.

Many students are involved in college activities and the college provides them with a variety of opportunities to participate.

I am also involved in the college's student government and I have been elected to represent the students in the college's board of trustees.

I have been very active in the college's community service programs and I have volunteered at various events.

I believe that the college provides a great opportunity for students to learn about their own heritage and to become involved in the social events of the campus.

The college has a strong commitment to providing a quality education for its students.

I am grateful for the opportunity to be a part of this excellent institution and I will continue to work towards making the college even better for its students.

asks us to help our grandparents stay young

Our so-called senior citizens have never had it as good, because they have been spared the many ills of old age, as well as the feel good with noise and activity. Almost every town has a senior citizen center, which provides things they love and enjoy. There are many existing centers, such as swimming, bowling, bridge, and music. There will be a column for the local newspaper announcing the opening of some of the centers, so be sure to check it in
