Carthage delays vote on joining fire district

By SHERRY KOONCE

The vote is set for the second week of the month whether or not Carthage will seek to become a member of the fire district that will provide additional funding for the county volunteer fire departments as a way of increasing their capabilities.

The Board of Commissioners followed the recommendation of Carthage Fire Chief Brain Johnson, who was the principal of the fire district since it was first proposed last fall. But the city is delay in the vote is in deference to other proceedings, a move that Johnson says is aimed at clearing up the outcome of the vote.

The city council is scheduled to take a vote on the district in the coming week, and Johnson said the city is awaiting the outcome of that vote before deciding whether to join the district.

Retirees hear from Johnson on changes in their benefits

The most retired players will soon be able to return to the field, thanks to the Tropical Reunion.

Johnson says that he left the team in 1989 because of changes in the league. Johnson was the first player to be cut by the Miami Dolphins in 1989.

Johnson said that the changes in the league made it difficult for him to continue playing. The NFL has since made changes to the retirement plan to allow players to return to the field.

Chapel Hill may be another stern test

Reynolds liked what he saw against highly regarded Wildcats in opener

Chapel Hill - gilt-edged? Good question, Pat Reynolds.

CHAPEL HILL — gilt-edged? Good question, Pat Reynolds.

"If you had to rate the game, I'd say it was a good one," said Reynolds, after a 21-14 victory over the University of North Carolina in the opener.

The Gamecocks were favored by 7 1/2 points going into the game. The UNC Tar Heels were the defending Southeastern Conference champions.

The Gamecocks had a hard time breaking through in the early going. UNC's defense held them to three field goals in the first half.

In the second half, however, the Gamecocks took over. They had a 14-7 lead in the third quarter, and managed to hold on for the win.

"We played well in the second half," Reynolds said. "Our defense really came through for us."
