City Hall renovations to begin soon

According to Thomas, the new offices are creating a need for a larger building. With the building being renovated, it is expected to be completed sometime late this year. A couple of factors that are considered in the proposed project are the current population and the growth of the community. In a related project, the city also hopes to renovate the old one in about a year.

Hands off! Look, don't touch bats

By Laura Vogel

The Virginia Wildlife Federation recently announced the creation of a new program designed to help prevent bat bites. This is particularly important in the fall, when there are more bats out and about.

The program, called "Bats Off!" encourages people to avoid touching bats, even in a natural setting. There are several reasons why this is important:

1. Health Risks: Bats can carry diseases such as rabies, but these diseases are rare. However, human contact with bats can lead to infections, so it's important to avoid touching them.
2. Personal Safety: Bats can be aggressive when handled, and there have been instances of bites and scratches leading to injuries.
3. Environmental Concerns: Handling bats can stress them out, which can affect their health and behavior.

The Virginia Wildlife Federation suggests the following steps to prevent bat bites:

- Avoid Contact: Do not try to touch or pick up bats. If you see a bat on the ground or in your home, leave it alone and call a professional for removal.
- Seek Professional Help: If you are bitten by a bat, seek medical attention immediately. Bat bites should always be treated as a medical emergency.
- Educate Others: Spread the word about the importance of not touching bats.

By taking these steps, we can help protect ourselves and the bats, ensuring a healthy ecosystem for future generations.
