Where family members say no harm was done, police say an investigation is underway.

The Prestwood family has a Halloween tradition, but they didn't make it to this year's event.

"We couldn't make it, they had our yard covered," said Peggy Prestwood. "I couldn't make it because of the 70-year-old person who'd just had a heart attack." The Prestwood family has a history of suffering from treasure, but this year's event was much different. "I think it's the first time it's happened," she said.

The Prestwood family is not alone in their experience. "It's the first time it's happened," said Peggy Prestwood. "I think it's the first time it's happened," she said.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Sheriff Jack Elliott

In my capacity as the state's director of the state police, I am required to conduct investigations into criminal activities and provide information to the general public. In this case, I wish to report the following:

The event occurred at the Central Baptist Church in town. At approximately 3:00 PM, a group of people was attending a religious service. During the service, a disturbance broke out, resulting in property damage and injuries. The disturbance was caused by a group of individuals who were protesting the preaching of the pastor. The protesters were demanding the removal of the pastor from his position. The police were called to the scene, and officers were able to control the situation. No arrests were made.
