Could someone please be in the workshop at Carthage Cup Company?

During Monday's meeting, city councilors voted to approve a tax abatement for the hood manufacturer in its future expansion projects.

According to Carthage City Manager Charles Thomas, the Carthage Cup header will receive $1 million in tax abatement as an incentive to expand its existing facility, qualifying for a 50 percent tax abatement over a five-year period.

Whether or not the expansion is a done deal, they have some plans to do this work because they're not going to do it and work it because they don't have to do it. They don't want to do it because they don't need to do it.

In other words, the councilors voted in favor of the tax abatement for Carthage Cup Company, which would help the company with its future expansion projects.

As of the latest news, the councilors have decided to approve the tax abatement for Carthage Cup Company, subject to certain conditions.

After the vote, councilors had a shorter meeting, discussing the possibility of expanding the tax abatement program for Carthage Cup Company, which would help the company with its future expansion projects.

Two injured in collision

A quarterback and a running back for a local high school football team were injured in a car accident. The accident occurred on the outskirts of town, near the intersection of two major roads. The quarterback, a senior, and the running back, a junior, were both transported to the local hospital for treatment. The quarterback was treated for minor injuries, while the running back, who was driving, was hospitalized for more serious injuries.

Rescue workers at the scene reported that both players were wearing seatbelts at the time of the accident. They were taken to the hospital by ambulance and are currently being treated. The team's head coach expressed concern about the players but said they were expected to make a full recovery. The school district has activated its emergency preparedness plan, and parents are being notified of the situation. The game, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed.

Local law enforcement is investigating the incident to determine the cause of the accident. The players' families have been notified, and the school has arranged for counseling services for the students involved.

In addition, the team's principal has spoken to the players and their families, offering support and resources for recovery. The school district is also working with the local community to ensure that the students have the necessary support as they recover and return to the sport they love.

Productivity appraisal: how to lower the property taxes on your farm, ranch or timberland?

Texas law allows farmers, ranchers and timber owners to lower their property taxes by conducting a productivity appraisal. This appraisal assesses the land’s productivity and determines the amount of taxes due. The appraiser will visit your property to evaluate the land and provide a report on its value.

When is the application deadline?

For the current tax year, the deadline to submit an application is April 30. If you miss the deadline, you may still be able to file an appeal or request an extension. For more information, contact the County Appraisal District or visit their website.

Do you need to reappraise annually?

No, you do not need to reappraise annually. The appraisal is based on the value of the property on the date of the appraisal. If the property value changes, you can request an update at any time.

Shangri-La: The Longview Ambulatory Surgical Center earned "Accreditation with Commendation," the highest accreditation award.

In a recent survey, the Longview Ambulatory Surgical Center was one of only seven ambulatory care facilities in the state of Texas to receive "Accreditation with Commendation." The center provides a wide range of services, including surgery, pain management and radiology.

THIS IS WHAT CARDIAC ARRHYTHMIA LOOKS LIKE.

This is how it feels:
Your heart races or skips beats. You feel dizzy or weak. Short of breath, you have palpitations, you may even have feeling sick. Sometimes you feel pins and needles or cold sweats. When the electrical rhythm of your heart is abnormal, this can be a sign of cardiac arrhythmia. It can be life-threatening and requires immediate medical attention.

New hope for East Texas cardiac arrhythmia patients
East Texas Medical Center Tyler is the leading hospital in the region offering an advanced technique to treat arrhythmias. The procedure uses electrical pathways to control electrical activity in the heart and restore normal heart rhythm. This technique is minimally invasive and offers many benefits to patients. Patients undergoing this procedure are often able to return to normal activities within a few days. If you or someone you know has experienced the hassle of cardiac arrhythmia, ask your provider if you are a candidate for this revolutionary therapy at ETMC. For more information, call the ETMC HealthFirst Line at 531-6800 or 1-800-658-6421.

A variety of homestead exemptions could save your property taxes!

A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering the taxable value. If you're eligible for a homestead exemption, the property tax bill will be reduced by a percentage of the property's value.

Who qualifies for an exemption?
Anyone who owns a home as of January 1st (or holds a lease) and the home is their primary residence qualifies. Homeowners may also qualify for low-income exemptions, property tax relief for elderly or disabled individuals, or other exemptions.

Are other exemptions available?
In addition to the homestead exemption, other possible exemptions include the federal and state property tax holidays, property tax deferral for those over 65, and other programs. Contact the county tax assessor to learn about all potential exemptions.

Do I have to apply each year?
Yes, exemptions must be reapplied each year. Contact the county tax assessor's office to file your application or to learn about other deadlines.

When and where should I file?
Applications are due by April 1st or the appraisal district's enrollment deadline. Contact the tax assessor's office for more information.
