August proclaimed Breast Feeding Awareness Month

On July 28, Governor George Deukmejian signed into law Assembly Bill 1195, which sets aside August as Breast Feeding Awareness Month. The new law is hailed as an important step in increasing public awareness of the health benefits of breast feeding and assisting women who choose to breast feed their infants.

Breast feeding provides significant health benefits to the mother and the child. Lucia Dehkaz, public health nurse, says there are numerous health benefits to breast feeding. The American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Public Health Association, and the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists recommend breast feeding as the best method of nourishing babies. However, women may be reluctant to breast feed due to social and economic barriers.

Medical research has shown that breast milk is rich in nutrients and antibodies that help protect babies from infectious diseases and allergies. Breast feeding is also associated with a lower risk of obesity and type 2 diabetes in adulthood.

California breast feeding rates are rising, but more support is needed to encourage and sustain breastfeeding. The state Department of Public Health, Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program, and other organizations are working to increase awareness and support for breast feeding. WIC provides free formula and breastfeeding education to eligible women, infants, and children.

Following Traffic Laws and Safety Rules Will Prevent Tragedies In New School Year

New clothes, backpacks, lunch boxes, school buses. The first day of school is exciting for students, but the new school year can bring tragedy if school safety rules are not followed. The Texas Department of Public Safety reminds motorists to obey traffic laws and watch for children boarding or exiting school buses. Parents and teachers should talk to children about school bus safety.

In 1995, no school bus had been involved in an accident, and 3,170 people were killed while traveling on school buses in Texas. By 2000, 2,370 people were killed while traveling on school buses in Texas. Seven people were killed in accidents directly or indirectly involving school buses, while 2,750 were injured. The most common time for accidents is when school buses are loading or unloading students. Students should be taught to follow safety rules and be aware of traffic before crossing streets. Students should also wear a seatbelt while being transported via public school bus.

According to the National School Bus Loading and Unloading Survey, most children injured or killed while getting on or off buses are under the age of 10. A safe, reliable school bus safety program is in place for school children and staff. School buses are part of the total educational program. To ensure the proper maintenance of school transportation systems, the DPS oversees and operates the state's school bus driver training program.

Transportation safety is a joint responsibility of school officials, school bus drivers, and motorists. The school bus is a vital link in the school transportation system. Motorists must be aware of the school bus's role in the transportation system and help to ensure the safety of students and staff.

Reminders for motorists:

- Drive with care when near a school bus. If you approach a school bus from either direction, the bus is displaying a flashing light. You must stop until the school bus has resumed motion, until you are signaled by the driver to proceed, or until the red lights stop flashing.
- You are not required to stop when meeting or passing a school bus which is on a different roadway or a controlled-access highway where the stop is in a loading zone and pedestrians are not permitted to cross.
- Reminders for children or students:
- Handling a school bus requires skill and concentration. Remind children to stay in their seats and keep hands and arms inside the window.
- If you are meeting your children at the bus, make sure you are on the same side of the street as the bus. This will save your child from running across the road to meet you and being struck by a vehicle whose driver has failed to see the school bus.
- Make sure your children know the safe way to wait for the school bus. They should stay on the sidewalk or in rural areas - well off the road. Remind them not to board until the bus comes to a complete stop and then get on only by the door. Be on time for the bus.
- Stay out of the danger zone - the space 10 feet all around the school bus.
- Remain in the bus driver's line of vision.
- Cross the road only after receiving permission from the bus driver or the safety patrol.
- Obey the school bus driver and the school bus patrol.
- Be quiet and well-behaved on the bus.

County sales tax rebates strengthening

Sales tax rebates in this issue. With the November elections looming, the Texas Legislature is considering a number of proposals that would give property owners tax relief. The two main proposals are:

1. A sales tax rebate program that would give property owners a tax credit equal to a percentage of the property tax they pay. The credit would be based on the increase in the property tax rate over the past five years.
2. A property tax freeze that would limit the property tax rate to the same level as the previous year.

Both proposals would be subject to voter approval in November. The proposals are expected to be discussed in the House and Senate in the coming weeks. Stay tuned for updates on the status of these proposals.
