Success Street stripper brings facility under fire

By Sherry Koone

This Panola Watchman

An array of former Soweto residents gathered last night at the promenade for a wave of protest and grief at the death of a local resident, a noted activist and political activist who had been prominent in the struggle against apartheid. Tullia, the name by which most people knew her, was a well-known figure in the community, known for her tireless work in promoting human rights and social justice. Tullia's death has shocked and saddened many, as it was expected to be the end of an era in the fight against apartheid.

"She was a true fighter," said one of her closest friends. "Her spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who knew her and were inspired by her life.

The local council has pledged to continue the struggle against apartheid and will hold a memorial service for Tullia in the near future.

Beckville trophies to be returned to high school

By Daniel Humphries

The Panola Watchman

Athletic and scholastic trips and events have been affected by the current economic crisis, with many schools struggling to fund them.

"We are trying to find ways to keep these events going," said a school district official. "But it's been tough.

The Panola County School District, which is one of the largest in the state, has had to make some hard decisions in recent months. "We have had to cancel some events and adjust others to fit within our budget," the official said.

But some schools, like the Beckville High School, have been able to find creative ways to keep their students engaged. "We have been able to find sponsors to help us cover some of the costs," the official said.

Property taxes fund more than expenses for county

By Terry White

The Panola Watchman

The average property tax in the Panola County School District is $1,200 per year. But the district also uses property taxes to fund community services, including fire protection.

"We are fortunate to have a property tax base that supports our efforts," said a county official. "But we need to be careful not to overtax our residents.

Cable TV Versus Satellite TV

Consumer Update. Here Are the Facts:

UPDATE:
Consumers today are faced with a growing variety of ways to receive TV signals into their homes. On the rise are new technologies, new satellite TV services, premium channels, special events and niche programming.

You may be thinking of buying one of the new satellite services called Direct Broadcast Satellite (DBS) But before you do, consider these facts before committing to any new TV technology.

DBS equipment is costly. Even though they say it's free, it's not. You pay a flat fee of $300.00 and an additional $24 per month for service. The DBS receiver is worth about $100.00, but it's not a standard piece of equipment. You may need a special connector, which is worth about $20.00, plus the satellite dish. You must pay the dish setup fee, which is about $175.00, plus the dish mounting fee, which is about $75.00. This is all in addition to the basic monthly service fee.

DBS also costs much more. The basic monthly service fee is $24.00, but each additional channel costs about $2.00 per month. This means that if you want 100 channels, you will pay $200.00 per month. If you want 200 channels, you will pay $400.00 per month.

DBS is more expensive. The basic monthly service fee is $24.00, but each additional channel costs about $2.00 per month. This means that if you want 100 channels, you will pay $200.00 per month. If you want 200 channels, you will pay $400.00 per month.

Help wanted: frost need running backs

Offensive coordinator Earl Cairo was without four key backs last week during Carthage's 29-0 loss to Kilgore. Cairo has two key backs for Carthage this week, and Stockton said he was hopeful that the two will play on Saturday against fellow 16-AAAA standers.

Carthage won two out of its three games this year, and Stockton said the offensive line will play a key role in the game. Cairo will have his first game at Carthage this week, and Stockton said the senior will run the ball well.

Attn: Diana Howell

I would like to take this opportunity to make some positive statements about Briarcliff Health Center here in Cardage.
My Father, Mr. Jack Bagley, has been a resident in your facility since 12/7/93. I have found the management and staff to always be courteous and helpful. They have responded to any request that I have had about my father in a very timely and efficient manner. All personnel taking care of my father's needs from the administrator, nurses and maintenance personnel seem to be genuinely concerned about the resident.
My family has been very satisfied with Briarcliff Health Center and the care they have given Mr. Bagley.
Sincerely,
[Signature]
(daughter of Jack Bagley)
