Words Can Hurt

At times, we all say things that we probably shouldn’t, as the old saying goes, “our mouth is moving before our mind is thinking.” Sometimes we say hurtful things to others without realizing it, either because we are not thinking or because we are angry. It is important to think before we speak, especially when our words can be harmful. Some people believe that it’s perfectly all right to tell someone that they are getting fat, or that they are going bald. They may even believe that they are doing someone a favor, as if one doesn’t want to point out the obvious truth about one’s weight or baldness, one may lose friends. A friend of mine used to have a plaque on his desk that said this advice: “Before you speak, is it true, is it kind, is it necessary?” The Bible says that we all have sins, “Sins and stores may break a bones, but words will never harm us.” It just not that words can be hurtful, and the Bible tells us that we will be held accountable for every careless word we speak.

Kind words bring life, but cruel words crush your spirit. Proverbs 15:4

I tell you, on the day of judgement men will render account for every careless word they utter; for by your words you will be justified. Matthew 12:36, 37
