Meetings set to discuss hospital vote

Two of Panola County’s four precincts have scheduled "public meetings" this week in an apparent gesture toward an ongoing controversy concerning a possible lease of the Panola General Hospital.

According to Pres. 3 Commissioner Harvey Ray, the "meetings," or "public hearings" as he called them, will begin on April 7. The first public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. on April 7 at the library, 700 Alabama St. in Mecom.

The second public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. on April 8 at the hospital, 1101 Alabama St. in Mecom.

In the meetings, Ray said he hopes to have "public participation." He also made it clear that he was prepared to go before the voters if he could not come to a consensus on the hospital issue with the other commissioners.

Ray said he is concerned with the "long-term viability" of the hospital, and that a lease agreement will help secure the hospital's future.

Marion County charges reduced against Carthage man Monday

A Carthage man has been charged in connection with Marion County's second largest charge, according to District Attorney Karen E. L. Smith. The charge is for skimming at the Marion County Fair.

The Marion County Fair is a biannual event that draws thousands of visitors to the county. The event features various vendors, food, and attractions.

It's not clear what led to the charge, but authorities say the defendant has been charged with skimming.

Skimming is a crime in which a person dishonestly obtains money by manipulating a machine or device. In this case, it's alleged that the defendant used a skimming device to steal money from the fair's ticket vendors.

The defendant is scheduled to appear in court for a preliminary hearing on Monday. He faces up to five years in prison if convicted.

For more information, contact District Attorney Karen E. L. Smith at 907-343-9030.
