By Jettie Franklin
THE PARDONER WATCHMAN

Tickets are on sale for the 47th Cattlemen's rodeo.

The Cattlemen's rodeo is an annual event that attracts riders and spectators from around the region. The event features a variety of rodeo events, including bull riding, barrel racing, and team roping. The proceeds from the rodeo are typically used to support local charities and organizations. The 47th rodeo is scheduled for the weekend, and tickets are available at local stores and online.
Project ‘Mom’s Degree’ is a matter of family pride

The Older Adult and the Student

The older adult and the student, two of the fastest-growing populations, may seem to have little in common. But, according to an article in the Houston Post, the two groups have much to learn from each other.

The article points out the benefits of education for both groups. For older adults, pursuing a degree can improve their quality of life by providing new opportunities and challenges. For students, learning from those with more life experience can broaden their perspectives and enhance their understanding of different perspectives.

The article also highlights the importance of technology in bridging the gap between the two groups. With the advent of online courses and virtual learning environments, students and older adults can connect and learn from each other regardless of age or location.

In conclusion, the older adult and the student share a common goal of self-improvement and personal growth. By embracing the diversity of age and background, we can create a more inclusive and dynamic learning environment.
Is it time to make a career move?

A SALUTE TO OUR WORKING WOMEN

Education, preparation make or break career

"We're moving on the wrong track," says sugy White, head of the National Institute of Child Development. "We're not preparing children for the workforce of the future." The institute estimates that by 2020, 75% of all jobs will require some form of post-secondary education or training.

"The future of work is changing," White said. "Today's children need to be prepared for jobs that don't even exist today." White recommends that students focus on skills such as critical thinking, problem-solving, and communication, which are essential in today's job market.

These tips can trim your medical bill

1. Stay healthy. The best way to avoid medical bills is to stay healthy. Exercise regularly, eat a balanced diet, and get enough sleep.

2. Avoid injuries. If you avoid injuries, you avoid medical bills. Wear seatbelts, use helmets, and wearnon-slip shoes.

3. Compare prices. Before you go to the doctor, compare prices. Some offices charge more for the same service.

4. Negotiate. If you're able, negotiate the bill. Many doctors will work with you if you're having financial difficulties.

5. Use generic drugs. Generic drugs are cheaper than brand-name drugs.

6. Take care of yourself. Taking care of yourself can save you money on medical bills.

These tips can help you keep your medical bills to a minimum.

Facts about women

Women face a lot of barriers when it comes to advancement. In a recent survey by the National Women's Law Center, only 16% of the Fortune 500 companies have women as their CEOs.

Do’s, Don’ts for assertive mannerisms

Wife of Mary Jane Arrowood

Do’s

1. Be confident and honest in your actions.
2. Be respectful and polite to others.
3. Be assertive in your communication.
4. Be fair and just in your dealings.
5. Be responsible and accountable for your actions.

Dont’s

1. Don’t be aggressive, intimidating, or threatening.
2. Don’t be disrespectful or rude to others.
3. Don’t be passive or submissive.
4. Don’t be unfair or unjust.
5. Don’t be irresponsible or negligent.

Keep your identity professional

If you’re the most important person in your job, why not act like it? Your work is what you do for a living, not for fun. Your job is to perform your job duties, not to be a socialite. Your work is what you do, not who you are. Your work is what you do, not who you are. Your work is what you do, not who you are. Your work is what you do, not who you are.
