Residents speak out against detention facility

By Sherry Knowles
THE PANOLA WATCHMAN

A community meeting was held Tuesday evening to discuss the construction of a new detention facility in Panola County. The meeting was attended by residents who expressed concerns about the impact the facility would have on the community.

The facility is being built in the Panola County Jail complex and is expected to be completed in late 2020. The facility will be able to hold up to 400 inmates.

One of the main concerns raised during the meeting was the potential impact on local law enforcement. Some residents expressed concern that the facility would take away resources from local police and sheriff's departments.

"The county already has a lot of responsibilities and this facility will only add to that," said a resident. "We need to make sure that our police and sheriff's departments are not understaffed due to this facility."
Blair pleads guilty to drug charge

Friday, July 31, 1995

A former state trooper has pleaded guilty to charges of drug misuse.

The Honorable J. Blair E. was arrested in May and charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Blair, who was a state trooper at the time of his arrest, pleaded guilty to the charge in June.

The case is being handled by the State Attorney General's Office.

Everyone Welcome!
College group travels to South America

The group was sponsored by a local women's group, and the trip was planned to coincide with the 20th anniversary of the group's founding. The trip was divided into two parts: a two-week tour of the Amazon rainforest and a one-week trip to the Inca ruins in Peru. The group consisted of 15 people, including six members of the women's group, five local tour guides, and four local participants.

The group was housed in a hotel in the city center of Lima, where they spent the first two days acclimating to the high altitude before embarking on their jungle trek. The next three days were spent in the Amazon rainforest, where they hiked through the jungle, swam in the Amazon River, and visited local communities. The last day of the jungle trek was spent at a local lodge, where the group had the opportunity to relax and enjoy the beauty of the rainforest.

The next day, the group took a flight to Cusco, where they spent the next three days exploring the Inca ruins. They visited Sacsayhuaman, Machu Picchu, and other important sites. The group also had the opportunity to try local cuisine, including ceviche and lomo saltado.

The trip was organized by a local tour company, and all arrangements were made in advance. The group had a local guide who provided information about the history and culture of the region.

PC Nationals, Americans gain semis

Hurlers turn cold shoulders toward Sanger in big win

The PC Nationals and Americans both needed a win in the opening round of the Little League World Series to keep their tournament hopes alive. The Nationals, seeded No. 3, took on Sanger, the No. 16 seed, in the opening game at Shibe Park.

Sanger had been riding high after a convincing win over No. 11 Little Rock, Arkansas, in a preliminary round. However, the Nationals, led by pitcher Timmy Belford, shut down Sanger's offense, holding the team to just one run.

The Nationals' defense also played a crucial role in the victory, with shortstop Nick Martinez making a diving catch in the third inning to prevent Sanger from scoring another run.

The Americans, seeded No. 7, faced No. 13 South Korea in their opening game. Despite a strong performance from South Korea's pitcher, the Americans were able to hold off the Koreans, winning 10-6.

The Americans were led by pitcher Blake Simpson, who struck out seven batters in five innings. The team was also helped by solid defense, with third baseman Jack Johnson making a difficult catch in the fifth inning to prevent South Korea from scoring another run.

The Nationals and Americans both advance to the next round of the tournament, with the Americans playing No. 24 Argentina and the Nationals taking on No. 12 Canada.
