Taxes puzzle, anger, royalty owners

By Teresa Cage
THE PANOLA WATCHMAN

For some Panola County oil and gas royalty owners, it is a waiting game. Instead of royalty checks, they have received notice from the Texas Department of Revenue that they are under audit. Each year, energy companies must file reports with the state, which are then reviewed by officials to determine the correct amount of royalty owed. Some companies have filed late reports or have not filed reports at all, leading to the audits. This year, the audits are expected to continue into the fall, with some companies receiving notices as late as the summer. The audits can be costly, as they may result in additional taxes owed, late fees, and penalties. Some owners are frustrated by the process and the lack of communication from the companies. They are also concerned about the accuracy of the data being collected. They are urging energy companies to submit complete and accurate reports to avoid the audits and potential penalties. They are also calling on the state to provide more transparency and communication throughout the audit process.

Kunkle directs last concert before retirement

Kunkle will retire on December 20, which means the last concert will be held on December 16, 1986. The concert will be held at 3:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the school. The concert will feature the school orchestra and choir, as well as guest performers from other local schools. The program will include a variety of musical pieces, ranging from classical compositions to contemporary arrangements. The concert will be directed by Kunkle, who has been the director of the school band for 20 years.

The staff and residents of PANOLA NURSING HOME would like to express their great appreciation to the following for their donated labor and materials for the wonderful walking bridge:

Panola County Chamber of Commerce Antioch Assembly ( Acts 19) and Charles Locke present the 8th Annual "Sleeping in Downtown Carthage." This event will feature a parade, music, and food, and will be held in the downtown area.

Carthage College Board Director Patsy Kunkle represents the sleepless nodes for many reasons. She is, for one thing, a downtown resident and has a long-standing commitment to the community. She is also a lifelong learner and has a deep appreciation for the arts and culture. Her leadership and dedication to the community have made a significant impact on Carthage College and the wider Carthage community.

New facility opens doors to branch office in Carthage

A new facility opened doors to branch office in Carthage, bringing the convenience of banking services to a new location. Located at 3rd Street and Main Avenue, the new branch offers a wide range of financial services, including checking and savings accounts, personal and business loans, and investment services.

The opening of the new branch is part of the bank's expansion strategy to better serve its customers in the Carthage area. "We are excited to bring our services to this community," said the bank's CEO. "It's a great location for the new branch, offering easy access to residents and businesses alike."

Customers can expect the same level of service and commitment to excellence they have come to expect from the bank. "We are dedicated to providing the best possible customer experience, and we look forward to serving our new customers," said a spokesperson for the bank.

The new branch will be open Monday through Friday from 9 am to 5 pm, with extended hours on Tuesday from 9 am to 7 pm. For more information, call 1-800-BANK-XXXX (1-800-226-5466) or visit the bank's website at www.testbank.com.

THANK GOD FROM WHOM ALL BLESSINGS FLOW

When I was a child, a religious teacher of mine asked the students to name some Christian holidays. Christmas and Easter were immediately mentioned. When asked if there were any others, I stated Thanksgiving. Although the teacher politely told me that Thanksgiving was not a Christian holiday, it is a day that is set aside each year to thank God for all His many blessings. When we have received something from someone else it is only common courtesy to thank them. Likewise, thanking God for His many blessings should be a regular part of our daily prayer life. In the Bible, when Jesus cursed the ten lepers, only one came back to thank Him. Perhaps, the nine who did not return to thank Jesus are a reflection of how often we fail to recognize God's many blessings in our lives. The important thing to know is that we can never thank God enough.

O give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; His steadfast love endures forever! Psalm 100:1
