County jail in good shape despite 11 'variances'

By Tom Murphy

The county jail was in good shape despite 11 variances in the building code. The jail is being used as a temporary holding facility for prisoners awaiting trial. The jail is currently housing 12 prisoners, including 11 who were arrested on drug charges. The jail's capacity is 14, but the sheriff says he expects to keep it full for the next few weeks. The jail is run by the county Sheriff's Department and is located in the old courthouse annex. The jail is staffed by a full-time warden and several part-time jailers. The jail is equipped with a security system and a video monitoring system. The jail is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The jail is closed on weekends and holidays.

The Court administration has proposed federal regulations which would ban electronic devices in the courtroom. The proposal is a welcome move towards improving the quality of judicial proceedings and ensuring the integrity of the legal process. The proposed regulations would restrict the use of electronic devices, including smartphones, laptops, and other devices, within the courtroom. The regulations are intended to prevent the use of electronic devices that could interfere with the fairness and integrity of the court proceedings. The proposed regulations would also require judges to review and approve any exceptions to the ban on electronic devices. The proposed regulations are expected to be implemented in the near future, and they are likely to be met with support from the legal community and the public at large. The proposed regulations are a step forward in ensuring the integrity and fairness of the legal process.

Bethel Baptist Church members enjoy party

The annual Christmas party for the deaf and hard of hearing children was held at Bethel Baptist Church recently. shin Letters to parents and other interested persons were sent and the children were given a thrill. The kids had a wonderful time. The program included a singing, dancing and the children sang carols. Presents were given among the children and there were games for the children as well. The party was a success and the children had a wonderful time. For their kindness and generosity toward the deaf and hard of hearing children, the church is grateful.
