Your Social Security

As I am 14 years old and have no training, I want to give my little bit of advice to the reader of this magazine. I am writing it in the hope that it will bring about some solution to the problems of our social security system.

I believe that social security is the backbone of our society. It is a system that provides financial security to the elderly, disabled, and other people in need. However, the system is currently facing several challenges.

Firstly, the cost of living has increased dramatically over the years. The cost of living has risen to an extent that it has become difficult for people to make ends meet. As a result, social security benefits are not sufficient to cover the expenses of living.

Secondly, the system is facing a shortage of funds. The government needs to find a way to increase the funding for social security. Otherwise, the system will not be able to provide the necessary benefits to those who need them.

I believe that social security is a system that should be protected and strengthened. It is a system that provides security to all of us. It is a system that is essential for our society.

Between The Lines

by Jim Stevens

I am a lawyer and I am writing this to inform you about an issue that has been bothering me for a long time. I have been observing a trend in the legal profession that is causing me concern.

I have noticed that many lawyers are not giving enough importance to their clients. In some cases, they are not even communicating with their clients. This is causing a lot of problems and it is affecting the quality of legal services.

I believe that the legal profession needs to change. Lawyers need to be more communicative and they need to be more focused on the needs of their clients. Only then can we ensure that justice is served.

The Irish Castle

She droves in the shade of live oaks on Center's downtown square, an imposing monument from another era.

Jacob Joseph Emmett Gibson, an Irish architect, built her in the 1880's. And if you have the strange feeling you're looking at an Irish castle instead of a public building, you're partly alone. Gibson's Shelby County Courthouse casts her spell on everyone.

When Gibson finished his towering masterpiece in 1887, she stood alone on a knoll, looking above a settlement less than 10 years old. Today, she is surrounded by hundreds of businesses on Center's courthouse square.

And it's in businesses such as those around Center's square that the real economic value of St. Regis is felt in East Texas.

Take jobs. Last year, we paid out more than $41 million for payroll in 10 or so East Texas counties—money spent for groceries, house payments, utilities and a hundred other needs and services.

Another $88 million went for wood used by our mills at Lufkin and Houston and about $80 million was spent for other supplies and services—everything from paper clips to heavy machinery.

The people of East Texas have been good to St. Regis. They've given us a force of dependable employees, created conditions suitable for growth and provided encouragement for expansion.

In return, we're trying hard to see that the economy benefits from our presence by creating new jobs and payrolls, by urging our employees to become involved in their communities, by operating environmentally sound facilities and by actively supporting community growth.

We don't just work here... we live here.
