In the Panola County Courthouse, the county officials are working to count votes from the recent election. The vote counting continues on Tuesday, and results will be announced later in the day.

The election was held on Monday, with the county clerk, deputy county clerk, and county judge all in attendance. The results will be announced at a later date.

5 escape burning house

A mother and five children were saved from a burning house in Panola County. The house was located on FM 9, and it appeared that the family was not aware of the fire until it was too late to escape.

A neighbor, who was passing by, saw the smoke and called 911. The firefighters arrived quickly and were able to rescue all five children from the burning house.

Death toll may hit 44

The Texas Department of Public Safety has reported that as many as 44 people have died in traffic accidents in Panola County. The accidents have occurred on both FM 9 and I-30 in the county.

The largest number of deaths has occurred on FM 9, with 34 people killed. The accident on I-30 occurred near the interstate exit. The exact cause of death has not been released.

Why Does The City Commission Want to Rezone Your Property?

For 20 years Carthage has been governed by a zoning ordinance providing for an organized community. Now, Oil and Gas Companies, acting through their representatives on the city commission, want to rezone the ENTIRE CITY for the production and storage of oil and gas.

WILL REZONING BENEFIT ANYONE IN CARTHAGE?
No—The drilling of oil, like other heavy industry, is presently restricted to those areas of town zoned for industry. Oil companies can drain every drop of oil under Carthage by slant-drilling from the industrial zones. ROYALTIES AND CITY REVENUES WILL NOT BE INCREASED BY REZONING. Drilling in Carthage will continue without reasen. The prosperity of our oil-rich area is guaranteed. Oil companies will obtain the oil under Carthage as surely as they do in other cities with zoning restrictions. The least of our worries is that they will pack up and go home.

They just don't think Carthage is worth the extra expense of slant-drilling. They would rather turn our neighborhoods into a patchwork of oil wells and shunt pits than spend a few dollars of their huge profits to slant drill from our industrial zones.

REZONING MEANS A FAST BUCK FOR BIG OIL AT OUR EXPENSE.

If you do not attend the public hearing on this matter on July 28th, your property will be rezoned. The City Commission has consistently approved land use changes in Carthage by slant drilling, and is expected to take a similar stand for the rezoning of our entire city. If you own property in Carthage, you will profit by attending the hearing. If you do not, you are not felt to be necessary. If you do, you will get a penny for it.

The doors to the new $8 million Carthage High School opened on June 1, which means the students of the area to take a look at the nearly completed complex. Today (Thursday) is the last day of the open house. Visitors will be welcomed until 4 p.m. Formal dedication of the school will not take until the latter part of August.

The main hallway leading through the new high school is to lend itself to the use of art and music students. A spiral staircase is near the entrance. The main office is on the left, and the main classroom area is to the right. The former are dedicated in one of the school's original buildings.

Two members of the art producing class at Carthage High School were awarded first place in the art competition of the school, with a design for a piece of furniture. The piece is titled "Time Out," and the artist is Linda Chapman. The other prize-winning piece is a glass cabinet designed by Cliff Kincaid. In addition, the winning design for a piece of furniture is by Linda Chapman, and the second prize-winning piece is a glass cabinet designed by Cliff Kincaid. Railroad Commission sets 100 percent production rate

The Texas Railroad Commission has set 100 percent production rates for the first time in its history. This is the result of the commission's efforts to encourage increased production of oil and gas in Texas. The commission's efforts have been successful, and the commission is now able to set 100 percent production rates.
