Carthage ISD adopts $4.7 million budget

Veterans benefits possible

Nursing home rating tops

UT Tyler offers numerous courses

Beckville approves new school budget

A & A FLORAL CO.

Opening Monday, Aug. 24
Open Monday-Friday
8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Saturday 8 a.m.-1 p.m.

• Cut Flowers
• Corsages
• Silks
• Weddings
• Potted Plants
• Funerals

693-6782
113 N. St. Mary
On The Square

Kathy Muncey

Kathy is hoping, with enough care, her efforts will bloom.

At Longview Savings, she will show you how to gather a bunch. In fact, you'll get paid for picking them by using our

A $200 minimum
balance is all you need.
Earning-half percent interest, compounded daily.
a convenient checking account.

If you're not already a Longview Saver, start your savings blooming today!
Handicapped teach us a lesson

"I have no hands, but I read!" the nurse had said. "That's the essential thing. It's not the number of hands that counts, but the heart that counts."

All this occurs in what I call the "Learning Center" at the Anna Springs Convalescent Home in Corpus Christi. It is the place where people who are physically handicapped receive the care and attention they require to help them overcome their disabilities and adapt to the world around them.

The center is run by dedicated and caring nurses and therapists who work tirelessly to help each individual reach their maximum potential. They understand that physical limitations do not define a person's ability to learn and grow.

The nurse's words echoed in my mind as I observed the daily activities at the center. I realized that in teaching our children and students about the importance of inclusivity and understanding, we also learn valuable lessons from those who may appear differently on the surface but are just as capable and intelligent as anyone else.

The nurse's words, "I have no hands, but I read!" serve as a reminder that our abilities are not defined by our physical shortcomings, but by our determination and willingness to adapt and succeed.
Sports Watch

Elysian Fields

'Jackets to be strong on defense

In the upcoming football season, Elysian Fields is expected to have a strong defense. The team has been working hard on improving their tackling and coverage skills. With a mix of experienced players and promising newcomers, the defense is set to play a crucial role in the season. Expect big things from the 'Jackets this year!

CHS impressive in scrimmage

Cortland High School (CHS) had a solid showing during their scrimmage. The team's defense was particularly strong, holding their opponents to minimal yardage. From what we've seen, CHS is definitely one to watch this season.

IT'S TIME FOR A...

...And It Could Be YOU!

WIN $5000
Every Week
For 12 Weeks

You could win $5000 every week for 12 weeks! Just fill out the entry form and submit it to our office, and you could be a winner. The game is on now, so don't miss your chance to win big!

Notice to Taxpayers
Cartage Independent School District

No Tax Increase

The Cartage Independent School District Board of Education proposes no increase in property taxes for the year 1981.

Notice of Tax Increase

The Cartage Independent School District Board of Education proposes to increase your property tax by 10.74 percent.

Bowling News

Trivia Quiz

Ready to test your knowledge about the world of bowling? Take our trivia quiz and see how much you know about the sport.

Photo day, a fun time for all

With the arrival of the new school year, Photo Day is upon us. This year, we have a special theme: 'Capture the Moment.' Students are encouraged to bring their best smiles and poses for the photographer. It's a day filled with fun and memories, so be sure to participate!

AS I SEE IT

In Richardson County

One of the greatest things about working in the field of sports is the opportunity to see the game from different perspectives. It's a great team, not only do I have the opportunity to cover the games, but I also get to meet and learn from other coaches and players. I find that information to be incredibly valuable, both for my own coaching and for helping others improve their game. The key is to be open and receptive to new ideas, and to always be looking for ways to improve.

Sports stars make it to the Smithsonian Institution

A group of sports stars recently paid a visit to the Smithsonian Institution. The stars, including basketball legend Michael Jordan and Olympic gold medalist in gymnastics, were on hand to help celebrate the grand opening of the new sports exhibit. It was a thrilling experience for all involved, and it's sure to be a hit with sports fans everywhere.

Volleyball

As the volleyball season heats up, teams are preparing for their upcoming matches. With skilled players and strong strategies, this year promises to be an exciting season for volleyball fans.
The page contains a combination of text and tables. The text appears to be mostly in columns, with some headers and footers, typical of a newspaper or magazine layout. The tables have rows and columns, possibly indicating schedules or other types of data. The presence of diagrams and advertisements also suggests a typical layout for a publication with varied content and visual elements.
Carthage launches bond effort

High school dedication is Sunday

Body of murder victim is found

City considers $2.55 million budget