Carthage to require garbage in bags

By MARSHALL ADAMS

The Carthage City Commissioners approved an ordinance Monday requiring all residents to place garbage in bags.

The city council has been working on the ordinance for several months, and the new law takes effect Jan. 1.

Garbage bags must be no larger than 30 inches by 36 inches.

The ordinance also requires residents to place bags at the curb on the designated day, which is Thursday.

City officials say the new law will help reduce the amount of trash left on streets and improve the appearance of the city.

Ag building bid approved

School board approves bid

The Carthage Independent School District has approved a bid for construction of a new Ag building.

The district has been working on the project for several years, and the new building will be located on the same campus as the existing Ag building.

The new building will be used for classes and for special events, and it will be equipped with the latest technology.

Commission to buy land

Commissioners approved the purchase of a piece of land for a new Ag building. The land was purchased for $250,000.

Gary HS Class of '28 gathers for reunion

The Gary High School Class of '28 held a reunion at the Carthage Hotel on Saturday, November 18th. A total of 18 classmates attended the event, which was well attended. The reunion was a great opportunity for classmates to catch up and reminisce about their high school days.
Publisher's Notes

Once upon a time in Congress

By Vic Parker

In the days of the U.S. Congress, the world was a different place. Back then, the days were filled with debates, speeches, and important discussions. The country was divided into two main parties: the Republicans and the Democrats. The Congress was not as divided as it is today, and the members were more focused on doing their jobs.

One day, a member of Congress made a speech that was so good, it went viral. The member's name was John Doe, and he was known for his ability to speak on any topic. The speech was so good that it was recorded and distributed throughout the country. The member was so popular that he was re-elected to Congress.

The days passed, and the member continued to speak on important issues. The member was known for his ability to work with both parties to get things done. The member was so popular that he was able to influence the course of the country.

But then, one day, the member was found dead in his office. The member had been working late into the night, and it was believed that he had died of a heart attack. The member was missed by everyone who knew him, and his death was mourned throughout the country.

The member's legacy lived on, and his speeches were studied by many who were interested in politics. The member was a legend, and his influence was felt for years to come.

End of story.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my opinion on the recent developments in Congress. It seems that there is a lot of division and polarization between the two parties, which is not good for the country.

We need to work together to get things done, and that means finding common ground and working towards a common goal. I urge all members of Congress to put aside their differences and work for the benefit of the country.

Sincerely,

Numerous symptoms can alert parents to marijuana use

Third in Series

Some parents believe that marijuana use among their children is not a problem. They may assume that their child is too young to use marijuana or that it is a safe drug to use. However, marijuana can have serious effects on a child's development and can lead to addiction.

Symptoms of marijuana use in children include:

- Poor school performance
- Changes in behavior
- Irritability
- Difficulty concentrating
- Withdrawal
- Physical health problems

Parents should also be aware of the signs of addiction, such as:

- Increased use of marijuana
- Difficulty quitting
- Tolerance to marijuana
- Withdrawal symptoms when marijuana use is stopped

If you suspect that your child is using marijuana, it is important to talk to them about their use and encourage them to seek help if they are having problems. It is also important to set boundaries and consequences for drug use.

Remember, early intervention can make a big difference in preventing long-term problems related to marijuana use.
