Second suspect arrested in murder

David Grappe nabbed in Florida

David Grappe, a suspect in the murder of a woman in Carthage, Texas, was arrested on November 1, 1982. Grappe, a 44-year-old man, was taken into custody after police received a tip from a neighbor.

Grappe, according to police, had been acting strangely in the days leading up to the murder. He was seen徘徊ing the area around the victim's home, and was later found standing over the body with a knife.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Jane Davis, a 48-year-old woman. Davis was last seen alive on September 15, 1982. Police believe that Grappe killed Davis in a fit of rage after an argument.

Grappe is being held at the Carthage City Jail, pending charges of capital murder. He will be arraigned in court on November 8, 1982.

The Watchman's Observation:

As I was crossing the street on the way to my office, I noticed a man walking by with a stack of newspapers under his arm. He seemed to be in a hurry and was handing some of the papers to people on the corner. I decided to approach him and ask what was going on.

"Oh, hello," he said, "I'm just handing out a special section on the economy. It's free, but I'm asking for donations." I handed him a dollar and thanked him for his efforts.

As I walked away, I couldn't help but wonder about the impact of the economy on the community. It's a tough time, and we need to support our local businesses and news organizations.

About time

By Vic Parker

It's about time the government started doing something to address the alarming rise in crime rates. As a concerned citizen, I'm willing to put in the effort to make a difference in our community.

I've been reading up on the latest crime statistics and it's clear that something needs to be done. With the lack of resources and personnel, the police department is struggling to keep up.

We need to start investing in our community again. That means providing more funding for the police department, as well as supporting local businesses and creating jobs.

Marshall's World

' Egg 'stremely important

What is it about some chickens that makes them so important? They lay eggs, of course, but they also have a special place in our community. I've always been partial to eggs, myself.

I've been known to turn heads when I walk into a room with a plate of eggs on it. Some people might not understand the allure, but I'm here to tell you: eggs are the real deal.

They're packed with protein and vitamins, and they're a great source of energy. Plus, they're so versatile - you can use them in all sorts of dishes.

The moral of the story is this: don't underestimate the power of eggs. They may be small, but they're mighty.

The sideliners: Can the Bulldogs recover from loss of their underrated defensive stars of 1981?

Let's see now, it's been a little more than six days since the Super Bowl was cancelled. That's approximately six years, and we are one of the teams that won't be playing in the Super Bowl. In fact, none of the teams that played in the Super Bowl in 1981 are playing in the Super Bowl this year. The Cowboys won't even be in the Super Bowl.

I've heard that the Cowboys will be back, and there's no doubt about that. Just like the Dallas Cowboys are back, so are the Washington Redskins.

I'm not suggesting that the Cowboys are the best team, but they did win the Super Bowl last year. The Washington Redskins also won the Super Bowl last year. The Dallas Cowboys are definitely the best team in the NFL, but the Redskins are a tough team to beat. They have a strong defense and a solid offense.

The Redskins are led by quarterback Joe Theismann, who is one of the best quarterbacks in the NFL. He has a strong arm and is able to make plays with his legs. The Cowboys have a good quarterback in Roger Staubach, but he is not as good as Theismann.

The Cowboys have a good defense, but the Redskins have a better defense. They have a strong pass rush and a good secondary. The Cowboys have a strong defense, but the Redskins have a better defense.

The Cowboys are favored to win the Super Bowl, but the Redskins have a good chance. They have a good offense and a solid defense. The Cowboys have a good offense, but the Redskins have a better offense. The Cowboys have a good defense, but the Redskins have a better defense.

I don't expect the Cowboys to lose to the Redskins, but it's not going to be easy. The Redskins are a good team, and they have a chance to win the Super Bowl.
