Group seeks charter for new bank

By MARSHALL BECK

A group of local and area businessmen have formed a new bank in Cartage. The bank, called The Panola Watchman, will be located in the old Panola Building on the corner of Main and Market streets. The bank will offer checking, savings, and loan services.

Beckville ISD to give $15,000 for ag show barn

By MARSEY GRACIOS

The Beckville Independent School District has set aside $15,000 for the construction of a new ag show barn. The barn will be used for local fairs and exhibitions, and will provide a much-needed facility for the district's agriculture program.

Marlene LaGrone wins 'Bucks'

Last week in the Cartage area, Marlene LaGrone won the 'Bucks' contest at the Panola Watchman. LaGrone, who is a local business owner, was chosen as the winner by a random draw among the customers. She will receive a cash prize and other gifts donated by the Panola Watchman and its sponsors.
Fire ants: County effort expected

Familiar sight

Fire ants are a common sight in East Texas, and the county is expected to make an effort to control them. The problem is that they have been known to kill young children, and even pets. The county has been working on a plan to help control the ants and has already started implementing it.

Heroes
By Vic Parker

Perhaps we were in such a hurry to get the facts that we overlooked the possibility of what might have been the subject of my last column about the efforts on the part of the Post to secure funds from the public to purchase the old hospital for a community center. We are told that the hospital is now in the hands of a local developer who intends to build a new hospital on the east side of the city. If this is true, it is a shame that we did not take the time to get the facts right.

By Tom Jones

In the old days, when we had a real newspaper, the editor would write a column each week about the local news. Now we have a weekly column written by a local historian who writes about the history of the city. This column is not as good as the old newspaper, but it is better than nothing.

Where are the hoes?

The concept of love has certainly evolved over the years. In the past, people would get married because they were in love. Now, people get married for a variety of reasons. Some people get married for money, some for convenience, and some just because they are expected to.

Fatality

I recently read an article about a woman who was killed in a car crash. She was a very beautiful woman and she had a lot of friends. The community is very sad about her death.

Letters to the Editor

Flattery

I recently received a letter from a reader who commented on the good work that the Watchman is doing. I was very pleased to hear that the community is satisfied with the paper.

Remember the general store?

I recently went to a small town and it was like stepping back in time. The town had a general store that was just like the ones we used to have. I wish we had more places like that.

The other day, Sabinho was at the P T C (Philosophical Theological Conference) and he heard a lecture about the latest in ... the existence of the external world. He replied that even if he didn't believe in the external world, he still wanted to learn more about it. Sabinho's studies had always been focused on the internal aspects of human existence, but now he was beginning to explore the external world. He was eager to learn more about the external world and how it relates to the internal world. He decided to enroll in a new course that would focus on the external world. Sabinho was excited about the opportunity to learn more about the external world and how it relates to his own internal world.

At annual football banquet
1981 Bulldogs honored with festivities

Cream of the crop -
Juniors recognized

The sideliners:
Say goodbye to Little League as Dixie League
begins its reign

by Kylie Hargrove

The Daily Bulletin

In a brief ceremony at the annual football banquet, members of the 1981 New Mexico State University Bulldog football team were honored for their contributions to the team. The banquet was held at the University's student center on Friday night, attended by family and friends of the players as well as university officials.

Several players were recognized for their hard work and dedication, including [player names]. The team's head coach, [name], expressed his gratitude for the players' efforts during the season.

In other news, the Little League season is winding down, and the Dixie League is gearing up to take its place. The transition from Little League to Dixie League has been a bit of a challenge for many, as the teams are made up of players of different ages and skill levels.

For the Little League coaches and players, the change has been a bit of a struggle. "It's been tough," said [name], a Little League coach. "We've had to get used to the new rules and strategies, and it's been a bit of a challenge for the kids as well."

As the season comes to a close, the Little League teams are looking forward to the new challenges that the Dixie League will bring. "We're excited for the change," said [name], a player on one of the Little League teams. "It's going to be a new experience, and we're looking forward to learning new skills and improving our game."

The transition from Little League to Dixie League is expected to continue as more players move up to the higher levels. For now, however, the Little League teams are focusing on finishing the season strong and enjoying the game they love.

For more information, please contact [name], the Little League coach. "We're excited for what the future holds," said [name]. "We're looking forward to seeing how our players develop and improve over the coming years."
