Carthage approves agreement toward sale of city bonds

The Carthage City Council voted Monday night to approve an agreement with the city's bond counsel that will allow the city to go forward with the construction of a new public works facility. The agreement, approved unanimously by the council, allows the city to issue up to $10 million in bonds to fund the construction of the facility, which will be located on the east side of the city. The city plans to use the facility to store water, sewer, and stormwater infrastructure. The project is expected to be complete in two years. The council also approved a $2 million bond issue to fund the construction of a new police station. The station will be located on the north side of the city and will have space for 12 officers.

The Panola FFA chapter recently named candids for the 1962-63 school year

Although Gary FFA is relatively small in size, the chapter is making great strides in organizing activities on various levels. This is particularly true in the areas of officer selection and counseling services. With a record-breaking number of members for the coming year, the chapter is poised for a year of growth and development.

Gary FFA recognized its two outstanding leaders, Don B. Johnson and Grants Decker, during the chapter's regular meeting. Johnson was awarded the highest honor, the Distinguished Service Award, for his outstanding contributions to the chapter and its activities. Decker was honored with the Excellence in Service Award for his exceptional work in leading the chapter.

The chapter members are looking forward to an exciting year ahead with new officers and the addition of new members. They are eager to participate in activities such as the annual FFA Rodeo and the National FFA Convention.

41 vote Republican

The Rockville class of 1962 was recognized at their reunion on September 29. The class consisted of 41 members, all of whom had voted for the Republican party in the recent election.

The reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Davis, who had hosted previous reunions for the class. The event was attended by all 41 members, including many who had not seen each other in years.

The day started with a tour of the town, followed by a picnic lunch at the park. After lunch, the classmates enjoyed reminiscing about their school days and sharing stories of their lives since graduation.

The reunion concluded with a formal dinner at the local restaurant, where old friends were reunited and new ones were made.

User turned counselor works with addicts

Nothing could be more frustrating than the constant battle to keep a drug user on track with their recovery program. It's a never-ending cycle of relapse and rehabilitation. But for one user turned counselor, finding a way to help others is his calling.

The Southern District of the United States, which includes Texas and New Mexico, is home to a number of small towns and cities. One of these towns is Marshell, Texas. Marshell has a long history, dating back to the late 1800s, and is known for its rich cultural heritage and its beautiful landscape. The town has a population of about 2500 people and is located in Rusk County.

The town's downtown area is home to a number of historic buildings, including the Old Marshell City Hall, which is a beautiful example of Victorian architecture. The city hall was built in 1880 and is now a museum, featuring exhibits on the town's history and its early settlers.

In addition to the historic city hall, Marshell is also home to a number of other interesting landmarks, including the Old Marshell Post Office, which is the oldest post office in the state of Texas, and the Marshell Masonic Temple, which is one of the most elaborate Masonic temples in the country.

The town is also home to a number of community organizations, including the Marshell Chamber of Commerce, which promotes the town's businesses and attractions, and the Marshell Historical Society, which preserves and celebrates the town's rich heritage.

Marshall's World

What's in a word?

By Vic Bos Parker

The word "Marshall" has a rich cultural history, dating back to the early 1800s. The town was named after General George Meade, who was a major general in the Union Army during the Civil War. Meade was a native of Marshall, New York, and his family had deep roots in the town.

The town was founded in 1836 and was one of the earliest settlements in east Texas. It was originally known as "Marshall's Crossing," but the name was changed to "Marshall" in 1840.

Background Scripture: Revelation 4:1

Key Verse: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power: because thou hast created all things, and for thy mercy and for thy truth's sake."

Rev 4:11

The reign of God begins when Christ returns. The reign is not a renovation or transformation of the world but a cosmic revolution. The time is near. The reign is also the time of mercy and truth. In the final crisis of history, God will act in glory and power. He will judge and reign, and nothing will ever be the same again.

As a news article leads to the departure of heroes, there always brings back a certain memory. Tom is my dad. When I have long hours of frustration, the image of my dad always crosses my mind. I think about the times he would take me to see my first baseball game. He would always be there, cheering me on. He always taught me to never give up, and that hard work always pays off.

Then there was the time when I was going through a tough time. My dad was always there for me, listening to me, and helping me through the tough times. He always told me to never give up, and that I could make it through anything. He always taught me to believe in myself, and that I could do anything I set my mind to.

In his free time, my dad always loved to cook for his family. He always made the most delicious meals, and his cooking skills were always impressive. He always loved to try new recipes, and his cooking always brought the family together. He always loved to spend time with his family, and his cooking always brought the family together.

My dad was always a hero to me. He always taught me to be a good person, and that hard work always pays off. He always taught me to never give up, and that I could make it through anything. He always taught me to believe in myself, and that I could do anything I set my mind to.

Now that my dad is gone, the memories of him always cross my mind. He always taught me to never give up, and that hard work always pays off. He always taught me to believe in myself, and that I could do anything I set my mind to.
