County to feel effects of new prison ruling

A ruling by U.S. District Judge Sam Pointer Jr. of the Eastern District of Texas has put the Corrigan Public Schools in a bind. The judge declared unconstitutional a state law that sets standards for the number of inmates to be housed in a given facility.

The law, House Bill 19, sets a minimum of 75% of the facility's capacity and a maximum of 95% as the standards for inmate occupancy. The judge found that the law violated the Equal Protection Clause of the U.S. Constitution because it discriminates between inmates and non-inmates who share the same facilities.

Inmate occupancy in the facility is now at 90%, and the judge has ordered the state to reduce the population. The school district is being asked to pay the cost of the reduction, which could amount to millions of dollars.

Polatch planning underway

The Polatch Planning Committee is meeting regularly to discuss the development of the new Polatch Community Center. The committee is composed of representatives from local organizations and community members.

The center will include a gymnasium, a community room, and an outdoor amphitheater. The committee is currently working on obtaining grants and donations to fund the project.

City Commission approves change in traffic lights

The City Commission approved a change in the traffic lights at the corner of Main and Austin Streets. The change will improve traffic flow and make it safer for pedestrians.

The new lights will be installed within the next month, and the city will begin a public education campaign to inform residents about the changes.

The First National Bank of Carthage

Carthage is a growing, progressive community that prides itself on the support of community organizations, quality schools, dedicated local government, and excellent health care. Much of our economic stability can be attributed to our local industries, which range from agriculture to manufacturing. Our people and a major source of funds to support local government. We'd like to take this opportunity to say thanks to the good folks of Carthage for their hard work and are doing things to enhance our community and help build a better community.

Criticalisms

By Vic Parker

I spoke to a number of other news people at the recent PANCA convention in Dallas and they all had the same complaint: that it was hard to make deadlines. And the consensus seemed to be that deadlines are a thing of the past, that it's now more important to get the story out quickly.

A lot of criticism is directed at the news media, but in my opinion, much of the public holds that the media are to blame. They blame the media for creating a climate of fear and anxiety.

I think the media are to blame for creating a climate of fear and anxiety. They seem to be more interested in sensationalism than in reporting the truth.

The truth is that the media have the power to influence public opinion and to shape public policy. It's essential that they use that power responsibly.

It has only been a short time since the announcement was made that the Panola County Courthouse would be demolished. The announcement was made last week and has set off a wave of protest throughout the county.

The courthouse is located in Carthage, Texas, and has served the county for over 100 years. It is a historic building and is considered a landmark.

The announcement of the courthouse's demolition has caused a lot of concern among residents of Panola County. Many are concerned about the impact that the demolition will have on the community.

The county has been looking for a solution to the problem for some time. They have been trying to find a way to preserve the courthouse while also addressing the need for new facilities.

We believe that the county should consider alternative options before proceeding with the demolition. Perhaps they could explore the possibility of rehabilitating the building or finding a new location for it.

First Things First
A DEVOTIONAL

The Rev. Rex Mays, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will begin a new devotion in the News-Journal this week. The devotion is called "First Things First" and will be a brief而且 meaningful thought for the day. It will be written by Mr. Mays and will be published every Monday through Friday.

Tears of sorrow turn to joy

Background religion: Revelation 2-3

Key Verse: The Lord which is in the midst of the throne shall rule them, and shall tread their sins under foot; and he shall dom them as the winepress doth tread the grapes, and tread them under the winepress, from the earth, and from under the sky.

I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last: the beginning and the end. Therefore if any man shall worship me, he shall not work, but shall have rest from his labours, because his works shall be made of me. If any man shall eat and drink without discerning the body, he eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, because he counteth not the body of the Lord. For this cause there must be a discerning among you. Therefore, while the Lord has given us a new commandment, that ye love one another: even as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love, even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

Energy Efficient AIR CONDITIONING for the Long Run

Energy Efficient AIR CONDITIONING is a way to save money on your electricity bill. By choosing energy-efficient air conditioners, you can reduce your energy consumption without sacrificing comfort. These units are designed specifically to fit your needs, and they use less electricity than traditional models.

Look For An EER of 8 or More

An EER of 8 or more is considered to be an energy-efficient option. It is an indicator of how well the air conditioner will perform under different conditions and how much energy it will use. The higher the EER, the more efficient the unit is at cooling your space.
