Strong nips Tescorps 3-3

Strong Winds而又 in a Tuesday meeting vying to third deciding game in a three game series, the Tescorps won by a score of 3-3. The Tescorps, however, were not the only team to come out on top, as the rains continued to pour down during the game. The Tescorps house was empty, and the bleachers were left to the sound of the raindrops.

The Tescorps Downs Carthage Drug

Texas's rival, the Carthage Drug, was defeated by the Tescorps by a score of 5-2. The Tescorps took control of the game early on, and never looked back. The Carthage Drug, however, were not without their moments, as they put up a fight and scored two runs. The Tescorps, however, were too much for the Carthage Drug, and the game ended with a 5-2 victory.

Beall’s burglar gets probation and fine

By NANCY SHARPE

A young Carthage man has been placed on probation for the next three years following a plea agreement in the 41st District Court for burglary.

The plea agreement, which was entered into last week, resulted in the conviction of Charles Beall, 20, of Carthage, on one count of burglary.

The conviction was based on evidence presented during a preliminary hearing held in the 41st District Court.

Prosecutor Assistant District Attorney J. D. Linnell said the evidence presented during the hearing was sufficient to support a conviction.

Linnell added that the case had been investigated by the Carthage Police Department.

The victim in the case was identified as S. W. Jones, who reportedly suffered a broken window as a result of the burglary.

Beall was taken into custody following the incident.

Since his arrest, Beall has cooperated fully with authorities, according to Linnell.

As part of the plea agreement, Beall was sentenced to three years of probation and ordered to pay costs associated with the case.

The sentence was heard and accepted by Judge J. D. W. C. H. Lewis.

Lewis noted that Beall had demonstrated a willingness to turn his life around and that he had made progress since his arrest.

The judge also noted that Beall had received counseling and had taken steps to address the underlying issues that led to his criminal behavior.

Lewis added that he believed Beall was a suitable candidate for probation and that he would monitor his progress closely.

Lewis said that if Beall failed to comply with the terms of his probation, he could be returned to prison.

In closing, Lewis urged Beall to take advantage of the opportunities provided by his probation and to work towards a successful and crime-free future.

Beall’s attorney, J. D. Linnell, noted that his client had expressed remorse for his actions and had taken steps to make amends.

Linnell added that Beall was committed to turning his life around and was confident that he could successfully complete his probation.

Linnell said that he would work closely with Beall and the other parties involved in the case to ensure that Beall received the support and resources necessary for a successful outcome.

The case was handled by Assistant District Attorney J. D. Linnell.

Linnell was joined in the hearing by Judge J. D. W. C. H. Lewis and the victim, S. W. Jones.

The matter was set for further hearings as needed.

Beall was released from custody following the hearing.

His probation will expire on December 31, 2023.
This is not exactly news, but something may be done.
I'm referring to the sermon in the John (or Judson) Baptist Church. It was about the last news item we have heard of the death of my cousin, who lived in the same town where I sent a few dollars, but I was unable to find out the news. I am told that he died of an unknown disease, and that his funeral is to be held tomorrow. I am sure that this is a sad news, and I am afraid that we will not be able to attend it.

I want to say to you, my dearest friends, that I am glad to hear that you are all safe and well. I hope that you will write to me soon, so that I can hear from you.

Speaking Softly

No debt owed

By Jeff Lowry

For many years, the issue of debt has been shaking the world. John Locke, the founder of democracy, thought society, according to a jury of his peers.

Why? Because he found that when people have no money, they areFFECTIVE in society. He found that when people have no money, they are EFFECTIVE in society.

The question is: do we have money? Do we have a debt problem? Is there something we can do to help?

It is our responsibility to take care of our money. We have to know how to spend and save. We have to be aware of the money we have.

Microfilm system saves county time, money

By SCOTT HANKS
Editor/Publisher

The Panola County’s
new microfilm system is saving the county time and money.

The system was installed in October 2017, and has been operating smoothly ever since.

It allows for the efficient storage of historical documents, such as birth certificates, marriage licenses, and other important records.

The county has saved thousands of dollars in staff time by using the microfilm system,

Each page scanned is stored in a database for easy retrieval.

The system is also secure, ensuring the safety of sensitive information.

In addition, over 2,000 birth certificates have been scanned.

These certificates can now be accessed quickly and easily, without the need for physical storage.

In the future, the system will continue to provide valuable services to the county.

Thank you for your support.

Dixie League review
Six year olds
Herb Hudson rips M&M Taggery
The Herbs Hudson, 8, and Lubbock's Joe Taggery, 9, were the stars of the Dixie League Little League District 4 Tournament. Herb Hudson wins the Calculator Game over Lubbock 12-8 in 4 innings. The Little Leaguer from Lubbock, Joe Taggery, went 0-for-3 with one strikeout. Herb Hudson has no hits, one strikeout, and four walks. He leads the league in batting average.

Ken Turner outslogs Jimerson Pool
Pamela Turner, 8, dipped her bat in the pool to score a grand slam home run. She hit the ball over the fence. Ken Turner, 8, was the star of the game, walking, scoring, and hitting the ball. He had three hits and three RBIs.

Jimerson Pool ousts M&M Taggery
Jill Jimerson, 8, led the way for the Jimerson Pool, scoring a run and hitting the ball. She had two hits and two RBIs. M&M Taggery, 8, went 0-for-3, striking out twice. The team played well and had the fans cheering them on.

Hudson squad sinks Ken Turner
On Friday, the Lubbock Postougs lined up for a game against Ken Turner. The Hudson squad won the game, 12-8. Heidi Turner, 8, led the team with three hits, two runs, and two RBIs. Ken Turner, 8, had a rough day at bat and ended up with one hit and one run scored.

Tracksters wanted for meets Clearwater High School Track coach, Sam Smith, was out recruiting for his team. He is looking for boys and girls who are interested in running. He said, "If you are interested in running, please come to my office and let me know. I will be happy to talk to you about the program and what it takes to be a successful trackster." He said that the team will be competing in the district meet and the regional meet.

Road race slated July 5
The Great American 10K will be held on July 5. The race will start at 8 am and end at 10 am. The course will be closed to traffic and will take runners through the heart of the city. Runners of all ages are welcome to participate.

Q&A with DeBerry looking for softballers DeBerry Community College softball coach, Bill DeBerry, was out recruiting for his team. He is looking for players who are interested in playing softball. He said, "If you are interested in playing softball, please come to my office and let me know. I will be happy to talk to you about the program and what it takes to be a successful softball player." He said that the team will be competing in the district meet and the regional meet.

Different aspects of softball are exhibited here...
- Pitching: The pitcher is the most important player on the field. They must be able to throw strikes and keep the batter off-balance. The pitcher must have good control and be able to throw fastballs, curveballs, and sliders.

- Bunting: The bunter is the player who lays down a bunt and puts the runners in scoring position. The bunter must be able to bunt at different speeds and angles.

- Defense: The defense is the backbone of the team. They must be able to field ground balls, throw out baserunners, and make good plays in the outfield.

- Base running: The base runner must be able to run the bases and score from one base to another. The base runner must be able to steal bases and score from third base on a sacrifice fly.

The Sidelinier: Baseball cards

By STYIE HANROVE
Magazine and Sport Editor

Looking through the many thousands of different activities that make up a typical sports event, a hobby that at times seems rather odd but popular is baseball cards.

I guess there are probably hundreds of thousands, or even millions of people who are interested in baseball cards, whether it's for collecting or for display. And while they may not be the most popular hobby, they are certainly a unique one.

I can still remember when I was a younger kid that we'd pride ourselves in our baseball card collections. Then after lunch, when the boys got out we couldn't stand to lose any, and we'd sit down and count them all again.

In fact, I know that a lot of my friends back then used to keep track of their cards in a notebook, much like the one I still use today. They'd record the date, the game, and even the score of their favorite player.

And although some of them have lost all that tradition, I think that's when a hobby truly begins to flourish.

A.C. Willey of New York City recently said that he collected baseball cards for over 10 years, turning in baseball cards into a hobby that he has since abandoned.

"I think it's important that people recognize the historical significance of baseball cards," Willey said. "Not only do they provide a glimpse into the past, but they also serve as a bridge between generations."

According to baseball card experts, the monetary value of baseball cards has continued to climb, with many collections fetching six figures.

However, while baseball cards may not be as popular today as they once were, there is still a large market for them. And with the recent surge in interest in sports memorabilia, it's easy to see why so many collectors are drawn to this hobby.

Saturday, June 26, 1982, 10 A.M.

"For the past six years, I've been in this business," said Jake Tatum, owner of Tatum Furniture, "and I've never been able to get a 'kid's' tournament to work."

"I've tried everything," he said, "but I just can't seem to get the kids interested."

Tatum, who is known for his innovative marketing tactics, is hoping that this year's tournament will be different.

"I'm really hoping that this year's tournament will be a success," he said. "I've got some great prizes lined up, and I'm really hoping that the kids will show up."

"I'm also hoping that this year's tournament will set a new record," he added. "I'm hoping that we'll be able to raise some money for the local children's home."
