Crowd voices arguments at lake

By Bryce Hawkins

Police said yesterday that a group of some 200 people, possibly including members of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, converged on Lake Murvaul to protest the construction of a new dam on the lake. The protest, which lasted for several hours, ended peacefully.

The protesters, who had gathered near the construction site, were demanding that the project be abandoned due to concerns about the impact on the lake's ecosystem. They also claimed that the project would lead to flooding of nearby properties.

Police said that they had received reports of damage to the construction site, but that there were no reports of injuries or arrests.

State park officials said that they were aware of the protest and were assessing the situation. They emphasized that the project was necessary to protect the lake and its surrounding area from potential flooding in the future.

In an interview, a state park official said: "We understand the concerns of the protesters, but we believe that the project is necessary for the long-term health of the lake. We are working with the community to address their concerns and will do everything we can to minimize the impact on the environment."

Legislative session actions spotlighted

The 843rd Texas Legislative Session was a busy and eventful one for lawmakers. Among the many bills that were introduced and passed, there were several that stood out for their impact on various aspects of life in Texas. One such bill was the Texas Transportation Code, which was renumbered to better reflect the current state of transportation infrastructure. Another important bill was the Texas Education Code, which included updates to the state's education standards and requirements. The Texas Health and Human Services Code was also revised to address the growing needs of the state's healthcare system. Overall, the 84th Legislative Session was a significant one for the state of Texas, with numerous bills passed that will have a lasting impact on the lives of Texans.
Locals learn from farm fish pond field day

A small crowd of people gathered in front of the Farm House on Thursday at the Fairgrounds for a field day sponsored by the Farm House. The event, which included a tour of the farm, focused on the care and management of fish ponds.

The event featured several speakers, including a representative from the Texas Wildlife Commission, who discussed the importance of fish pond management for sustainable aquaculture. Attendees were also able to observe various fish species, including tilapia, catfish, and bass, and learn about their feeding habits and growth rates.

The Farm House, located on the outskirts of town, has been a popular destination for locals and tourists alike. The farm is known for its tractor rides, hayrides, and other farm-related activities.

TUGCO announces management changes

John Carlson, former manager of the TUGCO gas station in downtown Lufkin, was recently announced as the new manager of the company's Lufkin office.

Carlson, who has been with TUGCO for 10 years, will be responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Lufkin office, including managing the staff and ensuring customer satisfaction.

"We are excited to welcome John to his new role," said TUGCO CEO Mark Smith. "John has been a valuable member of our team for many years, and we know he will continue to do an excellent job as manager of the Lufkin office."

DO WE WANT A BOND ISSUE?

The Present Indebtedness Is

The burden of this enormous bond issue would be too heavy to bear. It would place an unfair burden on the property owners in Carthage and surrounding areas. The total amount of indebtedness is $6,816,312.00.

TAXES HAVE GOTTEN OUT OF HAND

As a taxpayer, I support the bond issue, but I believe that the current tax rate is too high. I consider it unfair to place such a heavy burden on the citizens. I urge all taxpayers to vote against the bond issue.

New water sport glides in to Lake Murvaul, onlookers marvel at uniqueness, simplicity

By Carlye Grissom

Ever wonder what it feels like to fly? Want to soar above the world like a bird? With parasailing, you can experience these sensations and more.

Parasailing is a water sport that involves being towed behind a boat while attached to a parachute. The boat provides power and lift, allowing you to glide through the air like a bird. It's a thrill-seeking experience that offers breathtaking views of the surrounding landscape.

Parasailing is a popular activity among adventure-seekers who enjoy adrenaline-pumping activities. It requires minimal skill and can be enjoyed by people of all ages.

The experience begins with a brief preparation, followed by a short ride on the boat. Once you're airborne, you can enjoy the freedom of soaring through the sky.

If you're interested in trying parasailing, be sure to choose a reputable company and follow all safety guidelines. Parasailing can be a thrilling and unforgettable experience for those looking to challenge themselves and enjoy the beauty of the outdoors.

RELIGION

First Things First

By Tim Rippee

As a person, I believe in the power of God to make a positive change in our lives. I have seen people turn from darkness to light through faith in Jesus Christ. This change is not just spiritual, but it also affects our daily lives and decisions. As Christians, we should strive to live according to His will and let His grace guide us. It's important to remember that no matter what struggles we face, God is always there to support us. The verse from Romans 5:1 of the Bible says, "We are confident of this: that the whole Creation is groaning in the pains of childbirth until this present end time." This encourages us to keep our faith and trust in God during difficult times. Let's embrace the change in our lives and grow closer to Him every day. Amen.

Strength For Living

By Dr. Jerry Barron

In a world filled with challenges and obstacles, the importance of strength cannot be overstated. As Christians, we are called to be strong in our faith and to stand firm in the face of adversity. The Bible teaches us to be strong in our Lord and in the power of His might (Ephesians 6:10). This verse reminds us that we are not fighting alone but are surrounded by a mighty army of angels. We should rely on this support and take courage in the midst of our trials. As we face physical, emotional, and spiritual challenges, let us remember that we are never alone and that God will provide the strength we need to overcome. May we continue to grow and strengthen our faith in Him daily. Amen.

Historic jail destruction eyed

Jail history reviewed

By Larry Gable

Old County Jail preservation

City officials say jail is creating a "safety hazard and may have to be destroyed. Other alternatives can be considered but all have drawbacks."

The jail, which opened in 1903, has been closed for several years. The City Council has been considering options for its use. Today, the jail faces a similar fate as its predecessor.

The inside of the jail is deteriorating, with water damage and mold. The roof is leaking, and the street has been closed due to safety concerns. The building is no longer in use and is considered a safety hazard.

The city is considering several options for the building. One option is to demolish the building and replace it with new facilities. Another option is to adaptively reuse the building, turning it into a community center or museum. The city is also exploring the possibility of selling the building to a developer for reuse.

The preservation of historic buildings is an important issue, as many older buildings are being lost to development and neglect.

The city is working with the historic preservation community to develop a plan for the jail. The city has formed a task force to study the options and make a recommendation to the City Council.
