Historic jail destruction eyed

By Earl Checkard

Carthage City Commissioners will hear the lack of financing put the historic jail in Carthage up for sale and demolition on Monday, the Panola County board of directors. The jail, located near the square Monday morning and with demolition expected to go into high gear in a few weeks, is no longer in a safe condition. The jail, like the city, was built in 1907 and the ideal plan was to tear down the old jail and build a new facility. The building was saved because of the efforts made toward the building's restoration during the past decade.

By the time you read this, the jail will be torn down and the site cleared. The building, which has been used as a jail for many years, has been damaged beyond repair.

The jail has been a landmark in Carthage for many years and it's sad to see it go. However, it's better to demolish the building than to keep it in a condition that is a danger to the public.

OLD COUNTY JAIL: Nobody wants to tear it down but nobody wants to fix it up

By Bob Chelton

In 1900, the old jail in Carthage would have no place to call home. The building was torn down and replaced by a new one.

However, in 1910, the old jail was donated to the city and, eventually, became the site of the old county jail.

Eventually, however, the old jail was condemned and closed in 1990. It has since been turned into a museum.

The city of Carthage decided to demolish the old jail and build a new one. However, the old jail was saved and turned into a museum.

The building is now open to the public and allows visitors to explore its history.

Jail on Silk Property

The City of Carthage sold the old jail to a private developer who plans to convert it into a luxury hotel.

CISD bond election

Questions concerning proposed $38 million Carthage school construction project answered

Several questions have been raised by concerned citizens about some of the proposed CISD bond issues. Many of these questions have thus far been uninvestigated, and the citizens are left with no answers.

Why don't they just build the school instead of putting the bond on the ballot?

The school's need for additional facilities is a pressing issue. The proposed bond issue would provide the necessary funds to construct new buildings and renovate existing ones. By doing so, we can ensure that our students have access to modern and safe facilities. Concerns about the school's future are legitimate, but the bond is the most feasible solution to meet these needs.

What will happen to the bond if it doesn't pass?

If the bond fails, the school's current facilities will continue to be outdated, and the needs of our students will not be adequately addressed. It is crucial that we support the bond to ensure a better future for our children.

Legislature passes $38.6 billion budget on last day of session

By Jonathan Williams

Texas State House

The 83rd Texas State Legislature has passed a $38.6 billion budget, the largest in state history. The budget was approved by both the House and the Senate, and then signed by Governor Greg Abbott.

Finding funds for the program

The major problem for the state's schools is finding enough funds to pay teacher salaries, and it is the legislature's responsibility to provide funds for this purpose. The budget includes an increase in funding for public schools, which is a positive development.

Other Legislation

Other legislation was also passed, including bills to increase funding for public transportation and education. These measures will have a positive impact on the state's economy and quality of life.

DO WE WANT A BOND ISSUE?

NO!

The Present Indebtedness Is
$6,816,312.00

Plus The Proposed Issue & Interest
$3,800,000.00

Total
$10,616,312.00

The Carthage Independent School District has a surplus of $2,000,000.00 at the close of this school year. The burden of this enormous bond issue comes so soon after the last bond issue supporting the high school. All of us are interested in the education and well-being of our children, but Taxes Have Gotten Out of Hand.

As a taxpayer who supported the last big issue, we need to realize every taxpayer is going to be burdened by this bond issue. Whether he paid little taxes or a large amount, he is going to sacrifice to pay these taxes. All of us want our children to have the best, but it is necessary for management to handle the people’s tax money as they would their own. The burden of the taxpayer for the next ten or fifteen years will be the cost of maintaining the present building, grounds, utilities and buses. This expense of maintenance is first, and paramount.

My opposition to this bond issue is strictly a business proposition. There is nothing personal, no hard feelings toward anyone. Consider how this bond issue can affect you.

Loop 436 scene of two major wrecks this week

The wreck occurred on the northeast corner of Carriage Loop Road and Loop Road in Carriage. Neither driver received major injuries althoughThousands of dollars in property damage resulted. The scene was described as "horrendous" by an eyewitness who said that a single vehicle was involved in a head-on collision with a large truck. The truck driver was transported to the hospital with minor injuries.

The incident occurred at approximately 2 a.m. on the morning of July 3. The witness who reported the incident said that he saw one of the drivers, a man in his mid-30s, heading south on Loop 436 when he was hit by a northbound semi-truck. The impact sent the semi-truck careening off the road and into a nearby ditch. The man in the car was injured and had to be extricated from the wreckage by emergency workers.

Witnesses at the scene said that the man in the car had been trapped inside the vehicle for several minutes before being freed. Emergency personnel were quickly on the scene and provided medical care to the victim as he was transported to the hospital.

Local authorities are investigating the incident and said that they are looking for witnesses who may have seen the accident or have any information that could help them determine what happened.

The accident caused delays in the area of the crash and traffic authorities have advised drivers to use caution in the area. They have also urged anyone with information about the incident to contact the police.

McNeill was selected based on her skills in sewing and design. She is a senior at Coronado High School where she is a member of the Fashion Design Club. She has previously been recognized for her skills in sewing and design.

McNeill's design will be evaluated based on criteria such as creativity, technical skills, and overall presentation. She will have the opportunity to showcase her design in a live competition. The winner of the competition will receive a cash prize and a trip to a sewing convention.

In addition to her sewing skills, McNeill is a member of the National Honor Society and the FFA. She is also an active member of the school's drama club and cheerleading team. She plans to attend Texas A&M University in College Station to study fashion design.

McNeill's design will be judged by a panel of experts in sewing and design. The panel will evaluate the design based on factors such as originality, technical skills, and overall presentation. The winner will be announced at the convention.

The competition is open to students in grades 7-12 from across the country. The finalists were selected based on their skills in sewing and design. They will have the opportunity to showcase their work in front of a live audience and receive feedback from the panel of experts.

The competition is sponsored by the National Sewing Federation and the National Sewing Guild. The winners will receive cash prizes and a trip to a sewing convention.
