State Capital Highlights

Falling oil prices, weakening national economy threaten delicate budget

The belief in a capital budget of $3.5 billion has been questioned by some analysts who argue that such a budget is too high and not sustainable in the current economic climate.

The governor has expressed concern about the state's financial situation and has called for a more conservative approach to budgeting.

Rebuttal

I agree with the governor's concerns. The current economic climate is volatile and unpredictable, and it is risky to assume that oil prices will remain high in the future. It is important for the state to have a budget that is flexible and can adapt to changes in the economy.

Letter to the Editor

The governor has a point. It is important for the state to have a budget that is not overly dependent on oil revenues. We need to focus on developing a more diverse economy that is not reliant on a single industry.

TO ROYALTY OWNERS & OIL & GAS WORKERS: JIM CHAPMAN vigorously opposes the Republican bill that eliminates the 15% depletion allowance on oil and gas. It's passage will cost Panola royalty owners millions of dollars in new taxes and eliminate 180,000 oil and gas jobs in Texas.

The Republican tax reform bill abolishes the oil, gas, and coal depletion allowance.

Jim Chapman keeps the depletion allowance and save Panola County jobs and our taxpayers millions of dollars.

Hospitals changing to DRG method

In today's hospital world, the hospital systems of America are a battle for survival. The federal government's recent decision to change the way hospitals are reimbursed has caused a great deal of concern among hospital administrators. In order to combat rising hospital costs and decrease the financial hardships faced by hospitals across the country, the government has decided to implement a new system called the Diagnosis-Related Grouping (DRG) system.

The DRG system is designed to provide a more fair and equitable way of reimbursing hospitals for the care they provide. Under the new system, hospitals will be paid a set amount for each diagnosis-related group of patients they treat, regardless of the length of stay or the complexity of the care required. This will help to control hospital costs and ensure that hospitals are paid fairly for the care they provide.

Card of thanks given

A Card of thanks was given to the following individuals:

- Dr. John Smith, who provided exceptional care to the patient.
- The nursing staff, who worked tirelessly to ensure the patient's comfort.
- The hospital administration, who went above and beyond to make sure the patient was well taken care of.

At the family of J.J., who provided support throughout the patient's hospital stay.

As the family of J.J. we would like to extend our gratitude to all those who helped support and care for J.J. during his time in the hospital. We would like to express our deepest appreciation to Dr. John Smith and the entire medical team for their outstanding care. We would also like to thank the nursing staff for their tireless efforts to ensure J.J.'s comfort and well-being. Finally, we would like to extend our gratitude to the hospital administration for their exceptional support and dedication.

Date: June 3, 2023

The last weeks of J.J.'s life were filled with love and support from his family and friends. We want to express our deepest gratitude to those who helped to make his final days as comfortable as possible. We are so grateful for the love and care that J.J. received throughout his hospital stay. We would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to Dr. John Smith and the entire medical team for their outstanding care.

Campaign signs tossed in yard

By Mary Leigh Burt

The Thomaston 101 Comic book, was tossed into a yard Tuesday morning, apparently by someone who is unhappy with the signs, according to a neighbor who said it could be a vandalism.

The signs were not damaged, but one of the neighbors, who didn’t want to be identified, said, "It’s a little annoying."

"I mean, at that time of the morning, you’re up early, you’re getting ready for work, you’re going to school. It’s a little annoying."

The signs were taken from a yard on the corner of Campbell Avenue and West Main Street.

Shame on you, Jim Chapman!

Why are you needlessly trying to frighten older East Texans into believing that Edd Hargrett will cut Social Security, when you know full well that supporter benefits senior citizens have earned, and deserve?

You know Edd Hargrett’s father and father were dependent on Social Security when they retired.
Medicare helped his family pay their hospital bills when they were being treated for cancer. He knows how important Social Security is to elderly East Texans.

He’ll fight anyone to protect those programs.

But to you, Jim Chapman, these programs are just another opportunity to scare our citizens into voting for you. That’s why you sent out a piece of mail disguised as official government information claiming to be the only candidate who could protect Social Security.

Jim Chapman Was Wrong.

It’s wrong to scare senior citizens. Fortunately for us, people here know where Edd Hargrett stands. Edd Hargrett knows Social Security is a sacred commitment, and he’ll fight anyone who tries to tamper with it.

We can trust
