Officials say voters only choice is ‘yes’

By Mary Bruce

Carriage Independent School District voters must choose between three bonds put to a vote by the school board. If they choose the bonds, they will pay higher property taxes to support new schools, city and county government buildings, and new community centers. If they do not choose the bonds, they will face a possible lawsuit by a group of Carriage Independent School District voters.

When all facts are considered, however, voters really have no choice, officials say. Voters will either choose the bonds and pay higher property taxes to support the new schools, city and county government buildings, and new community centers, or they will face a lawsuit by a group of Carriage Independent School District voters.

Bond questions get answers

Editor’s note: During the past four weeks, a number of questions have been submitted concerning the school bond issue—questions that might not have been answered when the bond issue was first put to a vote.

Several Carriage Independent School District voters have raised concerns about the bonds, and these questions Carriage Independent School District voters have raised were answered in the Aug. 30 edition of The Panola Watchman.

Airport lease issue of county evictions suit to be filed

Legal papers were filed with the circuit court today by the County Attorney's Office, seeking the removal of Carl Adams as county airport manager. Adams was fired last month after he refused to comply with the court's order to vacate the property. The suit alleges that Adams has failed to provide proper service to the county, and that he has caused damage to county property.

Adams said today that the suit is not valid and that he will not leave his position as airport manager.

EDUCATION FOR OUR KIDS IS WORTH A PLUG NICKLE

By Robert Swenson

As our kids progress through school, it seems we feel less and less entitled to a home with our three children in a two-bedroom apartment and a four-bedroom house for $100,000. It isn't. It's a lot more than that. We need to support our school system and the education our children receive.

Our kids are given equal opportunities to learn in this community. The schools are well maintained, and the teachers are well paid. It is important to remember that a good education is a valuable investment in our future.

The cost of education should not be a burden on the parents. The government should allocate funds to the education system to ensure that all children have access to quality education.

The end result is a more educated, productive society that benefits everyone. We need to support our schools and ensure that our children receive the best possible education.

In conclusion, education for our kids is worth a plug nickel. We should support our schools and ensure that every child has access to quality education.

ANIMALS CONCERN READER

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern about the treatment of the animals in the school. I have noticed that the animals are not being taken care of properly, and I believe that the school should do more to improve their living conditions.

It is important to ensure that the animals are healthy and happy. The school should provide proper food, shelter, and medical care for the animals. I hope that the school administration will take my concerns seriously and make changes to improve the well-being of the animals.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Don’t Be Fooled!
They Have Done It Again!

The Carthage Independent School District Administration has ordered another school bond election — and so soon too after the voters turned down the recent bond issue a few weeks ago.

But the Administration is determined!

TAXES! TAXES! TAXES!

LOOK AT THE FIGURES: The school budget shows $42,000 per month for utilities, a yearly total of $505,000. If this new building is added, utilities will go up another $10,000 per month. The school administration says six or seven classrooms can be added for $300,000 to $350,000 — so why not take a half-million from the two million surplus now on hand and build what classrooms they want?

Expenses for maintenance of building, building, etc. totals $500,000 according to their records. It’s the utilities and maintenance that will be the burden to the taxpayer, after all the companies are gone.

Their budget also shows $53,733 travel expenses. Carthage has one of the finest schools in the country. The people of Panola County want the best for their children, but we have to consider the cost, as an individual must watch his own finances.

IF WE DON’T HAVE THE MONEY, WE CAN’T PAY THE PRICE!

Jackets big pick to cop first win

By JIM LINDGREN
Elysee Fields (8-3-1) with the help of 130 total yards of offense led by 160 yards of rushing from Johnnie Turner, defeated New Diana Friday night 21-13.

The Jackets easily started the game with a touchdown from the quarterback to Turner and another from Turner to Lee in the first half. Elysee led 14-7 at halftime.

They performed against the Panthers, it is not a show that will be repeated throughout the year. New Diana has been consistently underclassmen in the 1970s, and the Jackets faced the talented quarterback and running back combination from the Panthers' offense.

Donnie Caruthers, coach of the Panthers, was not happy with the game, "The Jackets did a good job of keeping our backs off the field. We had 130 total yards of offense, but we need to do better. We need to work on our passing game and our offense overall."

The Wolves have a high-powered offense and defense led by quarterback Bobby Atkins. Atkins is a great passer and has thrown for over 1,000 yards this season. He also has 19 touchdown passes.

Carthage has a balanced offense with running backs and receivers. The team is led by running back Mike Holm and receiver Steve Vessey. Carthage has scored 178 points in six games this season, while OZ has scored 130 points in five games.

RE: CISD Bond Election

The September 21, 1985, Bond Election is of utmost importance to our school district. The student population is increasing and the classroom spaces in grades kindergarten through the eighth grade are insufficient. We now have a number of classes with students in cramped spaces. This does not provide for a good learning environment.

The Board of Education and Administration have extensively studied the various alternatives and have determined that the bond issue solution would be construction of new facilities. The classroom teachers have also studied the situation and the executive board unambiguously supports the bond issue.

The only responsible of the sponsors is to divide $200 for the purchase of a $1,000 worth of gift cards. The sponsors are: Dr. Loyd Grissom, Dr. James Black, Dr. Loyd Grissom, and Dr. Loyd Grissom.
