McGruff comes to Carthage

By Mary Leigh Bea

In the wake of recent crimes, Carthage, Texas, is taking steps to ensure the safety of its citizens. The city has launched a campaign to bring McGruff the Crime Dog to local schools. McGruff is known for his cartoon dog and his role in crime prevention messages. The campaign is part of a larger effort to increase public awareness of safety measures and to encourage residents to take an active role in crime prevention.

Carthage Police notes activity

The Carthage Police Department has been busy with community outreach programs. Police officers have been seen patrolling the streets, visiting local businesses, and engaging with residents to build trust and foster positive relationships. The department has also been proactive in addressing concerns raised by the public, ensuring a safer environment for all.

$27,000 needed for Panola County matching Local help sought for MHMR

By John Lee

Local organizations are reaching out to the community for support. The goal is to raise $27,000 for the MHMR program in Panola County. A matching grant of up to $27,000 has been offered, but the community is asked to contribute funds to match the grant. Contributions can be made at the MHMR office or online.

CISD open house points to problems

By Susan H. Williams

At the recent open house for the new CISD school, attendees expressed concerns about space and funding. Many parents and students were disappointed with the lack of available space and the limited curriculum offerings. The district is working to address these issues and ensure a positive learning environment for all students.

Vote for the kids Saturday

From left, Bruce Fiskett of LaSota Club, teacher Scott Fiskett, principal and teacher, and head coach of the Carthage Mustangs. The school is looking forward to a successful season. The Carthage Mustangs are participating in the Carthage Mustangs Foundation, which aims to support the school’s athletic programs. The Foundation has raised over $20,000 in donations from the community, and they are hoping for even more support for the upcoming season.

The only responsibility the sponsor has is to donate $10 for each point made during the game. The Foundation will divide the $10 per point made into $5 for the Carthage Mustangs and $5 for any other school in the district that made less than $500. The sponsor will also receive a tax deduction for their donation.

We encourage all parents and students to support the Foundation and help the Carthage Mustangs have a successful season.

Post-Labor Day developments aired

By Robert Wilkerson

Tomball Post Press

One of the main events this month was the 4th of July celebration. The Tomball Independent School District kicked off its July events with a fireworks display and a parade on Independence Day. The parade featured floats, marching bands, and performers. The event was well-attended, with thousands of people coming out to watch.

Meanwhile, the Tomball Junior High School and Tomball High School celebrated their respective graduations. The Tomball High School graduation ceremony took place on June 11th, followed by the Tomball Junior High School graduation on June 12th.

Entries sought for World's Corniest Cook-off

People have a knack for turning one ingredient into a myriad of dishes. It's no different with the World's Corniest Corn Dog Cook-off.

The contest is open to anyone who can conceive of a dish that utilizes corn and, in the words of one of the sponsors, "makes the corn the star of the show." Entries are due by October 15, and judging will take place on October 16 at the Texas Agriculture Education Center.

Cash prizes are as follows:
- First prize: $1,000
- Second prize: $500
- Third prize: $250

Deadline for entries is October 15, and judges will announce the winners the following day. All entries must include a photo of the dish and a brief description of the ingredients used. Entries can be submitted in person or by mail.

Winners will be announced on October 17, and the top three dishes will be awarded prizes totaling $1,750. The event is open to the public, and all entries must be submitted by October 15.

For more information, please contact the Texas Agriculture Education Center at (512) 555-1212.

Carthage scores four touchdowns in last half for 35-0 win

Dogs bury Wolves under avalanche

Janes returned the favor of the handedness in the second half, and closed with 171 yards on 11 carries. He scored twice and added a two-point conversion. In all, Carthage scored 21 points in the second half, including a field goal and a touchdown from 22 yards out.

On offense, Janes threw for 200 yards and two touchdowns. His longest completion went 48 yards to Randy Taylor. The Wolves, on the other hand, were held to just 73 yards in the second half. Carthage's defense held the Wolves to just 210 total yards.

Carthage coach Mike Clodfelter said his team was prepared for the second half.

"We knew they were going to come out strong," Clodfelter said. "They've got a good quarterback and a good running back. We just wanted to keep them out of the end zone and let our offense score. That's what we did."

Duck limits cut

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved a regulation reducing the limits for waterfowl during the duck hunting season in its meetings Tuesday night. In the decision, the commission changed the limits for the duck hunting season in Texas.

Bill Browning, regulatory compliance manager for the commission, is the official spokesperson for the commission. Browning said that the commission will adjust the limits for the next season based on the number of harvests reported during this season.

Browning also said that the commission is considering a proposal to reduce the limits for the next season by 50 percent. He said that the proposal will be reviewed by the commission at its next meeting.

What is the new limit for the duck hunting season in Texas?
Forest Service enforcement stricter

Last spring, the U.S. Forest Service began assessing fines for hikers who are found to be in violation of the laws designed to protect the National Forest. According to Forest Service police officer John Walls, who oversees the enforcement of the laws, a person found to be in violation of the laws can be fined up to $1000 and receive a 30-day jail sentence.

Yard of the Month
An old-fashioned yard enhances an old-fashioned house

"I love old-fashioned building," says Bob and Jan Stein, owners of Stein's Bed and Breakfast in Cottage City. "Our house in Cottage City, the home of the Stein family, has a few features that I really love."

Bob says he and Jan enjoy the old-fashioned feel of their home. "I love the way it looks and the way it feels," Bob says. "It's just so cozy and comfortable." Jan adds that they love the way it makes them feel. "It's like coming home," she says. Mayor proclaims Sept. 22 ABWA Day

Carriage Manor Care Center honored as ABWA Sept. 22 Association Day.

Mayor-covered ABWA proclamations are often presented annually to ABWA chapters for their contributions to the community. These proclamations recognize the dedication and contributions of ABWA members to their communities through various service projects and programs. The proclamations also acknowledge the role of ABWA in promoting social, educational, and cultural activities that benefit the community as a whole. The proclamations are typically presented by the mayor or other local officials at a ceremony or event dedicated to ABWA. The ABWA is a national organization of women who are dedicated to the improvement of the community through volunteer service and other activities. The ABWA chapters are located in various communities across the country, and each chapter is dedicated to serving the needs of its local community through various projects and programs. The ABWA members are often involved in various activities, such as organizing community events, providing support to local organizations, and volunteering their time and resources to improve the community. The Mayor’s proclamation is a formal recognition of the contributions of the ABWA to the community, and it is a way to show appreciation for their efforts.
