Assistant D.A. Parker resigns post

On October 11, Assistant District Attorney Mike Parker submitted his resignation to District Attorney John Walker-Murphy. Parker announced his decision to the media in response to a "coup" or coup attempt following the recently concluded trial of a local politician. In his resignation letter, Parker stated that he would be better off for the break and好人not offered better compensation. The letter concluded with Parker's decision to resign, effective on October 11.

The Paso County Commission has accepted the resignation, and the search for a new assistant district attorney is underway. The selection committee will review the applications and make a decision on the new appointment.

"Do-it-yourself" creates problems

That's when the phone rang. ...-

It's a busy time around here, but I try to answer the phone as quickly as possible when it rings. I can usually tell who the caller is by the tone of their voice. Sometimes they sound very excited, and other times they sound quite concerned. But today was a different story.

"Hello," I said, "This is the Panola Watchman. How can I help you today?"

"Hello," the caller said, "I'm calling about my water bill. I know I was supposed to turn off my sprinklers last week, but I forgot. And now my bill is through the roof!"

I tried to reassure the caller, explaining that the bill was high because of the extended use of the sprinklers. "I understand," I said, "but it's important to conserve water. You'll need to make sure to turn off your sprinklers in the future to avoid a high bill."

The caller thanked me and promised to be more careful in the future. I felt relieved to have been able to help, and I hung up the phone.

The weather here in Panola County is always changing, and it can be difficult to keep track of everything. But I'm always here to help people navigate the ups and downs of life. That's why I love my job at the Panola Watchman.

Riders improved; Dogs 19-point pick

In the first quarter, the Riders scored three touchdowns. The defense was strong as well, holding the opponent to only 14 points. The second quarter was dominated by the Riders, who scored two more touchdowns.

Area youth prepare for rougher rides ahead

By Mary Jane Hart

According to preliminary data at Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Fife's place in the O'erham on the Island, the O'erham Youth Association will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, January 10, to discuss the future of the Island. The meeting was called by the Association's officers, who have been working on the problem for the past several weeks.

The youth group has been working on a plan to improve the facilities at the Island, which they believe could benefit the whole community. They are planning to build a new dock and improve the existing trails. The Association hopes to get some funding from the city to help with the construction.

The meeting will be held in the Fife's living room at 7 p.m. sharp. All members of the Association are invited to attend and bring their ideas and suggestions. The meeting will be a good opportunity for everyone to get involved and help shape the future of the Island.

Health groups call for higher cigarette tax

By Ray McWhorter

The American Heart Association and the Surgeon General have called for a $1 increase in the federal cigarette tax. They say this would help reduce smoking and save lives.

The groups say that the tax increase would help reduce the number of deaths caused by smoking. They estimate that a $1 increase would save about 20,000 lives each year.

The groups also say that the tax increase would help reduce the health care costs associated with smoking. They estimate that a $1 increase would save about $2 billion each year.

Special rules apply to household employe

By Ray McWhorter

Social Security Manager

A new Social Security rule is set to take effect in January. Under the new rule, household employers must report their employees to the Social Security Administration. This will allow the agency to track the employment status of all household employees.

The rule applies to all household employees, including those who work less than 30 hours per week. The purpose of the rule is to ensure that all household employees are counted in the Social Security system.

The rules are expected to be implemented by the end of January. The Social Security Administration is currently working to finalize the details of the rule.

Billy's Beat

By Bill Smith

The Beatles' hit single, "Yesterday," was released in 1965. The song was written by Paul McCartney and it became one of the band's biggest hits. The song's lyrics have become an iconic part of popular culture.

The song's meaning has been a matter of debate among music critics. Some say it's about unrequited love, while others believe it's a commentary on the futility of the human condition.

The Beatles' version of the song has been covered by many artists, including the Beach Boys, Elton John, and Crowded House. The song has been featured in movies, commercials, and television shows.
