Area traffic patterns to change

Traffic patterns in Carlisle will take on a new look soon as plans are being made to expand certain streets and widen some existing ones in the city. The Carlisle City Council plans to spend about $25,000 to acquire the land necessary to carry out the plans.

The city engineer, Lee Smith, said the plan is to widen Main Street from 20 feet to 30 feet and to lengthen it by 100 feet. He also plans to build a new road on the north side of the city.

The project will be funded through a bond issue approved by the city council.

NAACP listens to famous speaker

By Bob Brown

"It is a pleasure to be here," NAACP President Louis B. McNeer said as he addressed the Carthage NAACP chapter Wednesday night.

The president-elect of the state-wide organization said he was selected as the guest speaker by the Carthage chapter for its 40th anniversary celebration.

"We are very pleased to welcome Dr. McNeer," said Mrs. Charles Wilson, president of the local chapter.

Mrs. Wilson said the chapter plans to invite several out-of-town speakers to address the group next year.

"We are looking forward to having them," she said.

Gymnastics teacher faces sex charge

By Mike Branch

The Cheatham County Gymnastics coach, who was arrested last week on a charge of sexual misconduct, has been charged with a second offense.

Jeffrey Pugh, 21, was arrested last week after a 17-year-old girl accused him of sexual misconduct. The woman claimed that she had been forced to perform sexual acts by Pugh.

The coach was also charged with a second offense earlier this month.

"We are very surprised by this," Mrs. Wilson said. "He has been a good coach for us."

Lawless family gatherings for reunion

By Mike Bixby

Paul Lawless (left) of Palestine and Don Lawless (right) of Bullard, Texas, have something in common. Their families are related. Paul Lawless is the brother of Sue Lawless, who organized a family reunion for the Lawless families on Oct. 26 in the Bullard City Park. The families came from various parts of Texas, including the Big Country, South Texas, and the Panhandle. The reunion was a great opportunity for the Lawless family to reconnect and share stories about their ancestors and their experiences growing up.

Young services held

By Mike Bixby

A service for veterans was held at the Palestine VFW Post 9373 on Nov. 11, 2018. The service was attended by many members of the community who came together to honor those who served in the military. The service included a parade, speeches, and the laying of the wreath.

"I used them (the running backs) to pass the ball and get the ball out of the backfield, but this week we had to have our running game going. The only way to do that is to have the ball in the running game," said Head Coach Elmore.

"I think we did a good job of controlling the ball in the running game. We had some long runs, and we were able to get the ball to the outside. Our running backs did a good job of breaking tackles and getting yards after contact.

"The defense was able to make some big plays, and we were able to get the ball back to the offense. We had some key interceptions and big plays on special teams. The offense was able to control the game and get the ball to the running backs.

"Overall, we had a good day, and I think we have a lot of room to improve. We have some things to work on, and we will get better as the season goes on."
Host Cats Thursday

Jvs seek 8-2 mark

Recalling that the 1974 freshman class is 2-0, Carthage's Host Cats know as much. They're just as worried about Thursday's match-up with Jacksonville as they were for their last game against Pittsfield. Thursday's match-up with Pittsfield was a good one for both teams. They played Pittsfield last week in the second round of the playoffs. Thursday's match-up with Jacksonville is a must-win game for both teams.

Sneed had her grade to compete

As a matter of fact, Sneed may be the biggest game of the season for Jacksonville. Jacksonville has been on a roll lately, but Thursday's match-up with Carthage is a must-win game for both teams. Thursday's match-up with Carthage is a must-win game for both teams.

Halloween has strange, paradoxical history

Halloween has a strange, paradoxical history. In the Middle Ages, it was believed that on Halloween, the dead would come back to life and visit their families. In Scotland, it was customary to dress up in costumes and go house to house, asking for food and treats. The origins of万圣节 could be traced back to the ancient Celtic festival of Samhain, which was held on the night of October 31. The Celts believed that the night between October 31 and November 1 marked the end of summer and the beginning of winter, and they celebrated this change with a festival that included the gathering of foods, the lighting of bonfires, and the telling of stories. The tradition of dressing up in costumes and trick-or-treating is thought to have originated in the 19th century, when children would dress up as different characters and go door to door to ask for treats. Today, Halloween is celebrated all around the world, with customs and traditions that vary from place to place.

Boy Scout rumor unfounded

The national Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America yesterday derided a recent charge by the Hearst Newspapers that the Boy Scouts of America is a "service organization," a charge that has been circulating for some time.

"This is a complete misrepresentation of the facts," said Joseph L. Gentry, secretary of the Boy Scouts of America. "We are a service organization, and we have been doing our part in the community for over 90 years."

The charge was made in a recent issue of the San Francisco Chronicle, which printed an article that read in part:

"The Boy Scouts of America is a service organization. It is not a religious organization. It is not a political organization. It is not a military organization. It is a service organization."

The charge was denied by the Boy Scouts of America, which said it is a "service organization," and has been doing its part in the community for over 90 years.

Texas preparing for greatest birthday party

Texas is preparing for its greatest birthday party. The state is celebrating its 240th anniversary on November 30th, and the state government is planning a massive celebration.

"We are excited to celebrate this important milestone," said Governor Sarah Connor. "We have planned a variety of events to honor the state's history, including a parade, a concert, and a fireworks display."
Pumpkins have history too

The history of the pumpkin is rich and complex. The pumpkin, known scientifically as Cucurbita pepo, has a history dating back thousands of years. It is believed that pumpkins originated in Central America, specifically in Mexico, where they were first cultivated around 7,000 years ago. From there, the pumpkin spread to other parts of the world, including Europe, where it was introduced in the 16th century.

Early Americans believed pumpkins had medicinal properties, as the seeds were used as a deworming agent and the leaves were used to treat various ailments. In fact, the word "pumpkin" itself is derived from the Latin word "cucurbita," meaning "gourd."

Pumpkins are known for their unique nutritional properties. They are rich in vitamins A and C, as well as dietary fiber, which can help improve digestion and reduce the risk of chronic diseases.

Today, pumpkins are enjoyed in a variety of dishes, from savory soups and stews to sweet pies and desserts. The fall season is synonymous with pumpkin, as it is a favorite ingredient in many holiday dishes and decorations.

In this advertisement, SAFeway offers a variety of pumpkin-related products, including pumpkin spice latte, pumpkin spice cookies, and even pumpkin spice laundry detergent. The store also promotes their famous quality meats, which are guaranteed safe and delicious.

Overall, pumpkins have a rich history and are enjoyed by many for their nutritional benefits and festive appeal.
