Strength For Living

By Rev. Jerry Bumanman

Strength for Living

Since man looked into the sky he has wondered about the mystery of life. The first thoughts of flight have been inspired by images of freedom and power. But as man grew, those thoughts of flight became more powerful. The day came when man discovered the power of flight.

The blackbird takes flight into the sky with a burst of wings that carry it high. It soars above the earth, taking in the beauty of the world below. The bird flies with grace and beauty, lifting off the ground and soaring into the heavens. Its wings spread wide as it glides through the air, a symbol of freedom and power.

But the bird is not alone. There are others who also seek to fly. The eagle, the hawk, and the falcon all seek to soar into the sky. Their wings are powerful and they glide through the air with ease, taking in the beauty of the world below.

The bird's flight is not without its challenges. There are storms and winds that can hinder its journey. But the bird does not give up. It adapts and changes, continuing its flight through the air.

The bird's flight is a symbol of strength and power. It is a reminder of the beauty and wonder of the world. And it is a reminder of the strength that can be found in flight.
