Alternate Operations During Campus Closure: In the event of an emergency or announced campus closure due to a natural disaster or pandemic, it may be necessary for Panola College to move to altered operations. During this time, Panola College may opt to continue delivery of instruction through methods that include, but are not limited to: online learning management system (CANVAS), online conferencing, email messaging, and/or an alternate schedule. It is the responsibility of the student to monitor Panola College’s website (www.panola.edu) for instructions about continuing courses remotely, CANVAS for each class for course-specific communication, and Panola College email for important general information.

Instructional Goals and Purposes:
The purpose of this course is to fulfill academic requirements of the Panola College Core Curriculum and an Associate of Arts or Associate of Science degree.

Learning Outcomes: [from the ACGM catalog]
Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of individual and collaborative research processes.
2. Develop ideas and synthesize primary and secondary sources within focused academic arguments, including one or more research-based essays.
3. Analyze, interpret, and evaluate a variety of texts for the ethical and logical uses of evidence.
4. Write in a style that clearly communicates meaning, builds credibility, and inspires belief or action.
5. Apply the conventions of style manuals for specific academic disciplines (e.g., APA, CMS, MLA, etc.)

Course Content:
Students in English 1302 will be required to write a minimum of 3,500 words to be graded by the instructor according to the Minimum Grading Standards for English 1301 (see appendix—the same standards apply in English 1302).

The 3,500-word requirement may include a combination of paragraphs, essays, and a research paper. A research paper is required.

Students will read short stories, poems, and plays as assigned by the instructor and will be required to pass unit tests over reading selections as well as supplementary materials required by the instructor, including background handouts, literary terminology, etc., at a minimum competency level of 70%.

Methods of Instruction/Course Format/Delivery:
English 1302 is taught in a writing lab for both face-to-face and hybrid classes. Online English 1302 classes are delivered through the Canvas learning management system. Face-to-face and hybrid classes may include the use of Canvas as an enhancement to the course.

Students are instructed in methods of developing various types of essays over literary topics, as well as a
Instructor-assisted writing in a computer lab is an essential component of the face-to-face and hybrid versions of the course. Online students interact with the instructor and with other students through email, discussion boards, chat rooms, and peer editing requirements. Online instructors determine requirements and methods of submitting drafts of essays and receiving feedback on assignments.

Major Assignments / Assessments:
The following items will be assigned and assessed during the semester and used to calculate the student's final grade.

Assignments:
1. Essays: Essay assignments include essays over topics assigned by the instructor based on readings and discussions of short stories, poems, plays, and other reading selections required by the instructor. A research paper is required. Essay assignments will meet a total course minimum of 3500 words.
2. Tests and daily assignments: Instructors may assign daily quizzes as well as unit tests.

Assessment(s):
Students will write a minimum of 3,500 words consisting of a combination of paragraphs, essays, and a research paper to be graded by the instructor. Essay assignments will be graded according to the Minimum Grading Standards for English 1301 (see appendix). At least 60% of the course grade will be based on these assignments. The remaining 40% of the course grade will be based on tests and daily work. A final exam is required. All testing not administered by the instructor must be proctored by a Panola College testing proctor at a Panola College testing site or other proctor approved by the instructor.

Course Grade:
The grading scale for this course is as follows:

- Essays and Research Paper 60%
- Tests and Daily Work 40%

Texts, Materials, and Supplies:
No text is required for English 1302.

Other:
- Courses conducted via video conferencing may be recorded and shared for instructional purposes by the instructor.
- For testing services, use the following link: http://www.panola.edu/elearning/testing.html
- If any student in this class has special classroom or testing needs because of a physical learning or emotional condition, please contact the ADA Student Coordinator in Support Services located in the Administration Building or go to http://www.panola.edu/student-success/disability-support-services/ for more information.
- Withdrawing from a course is the student's responsibility. Students who do not attend class and who do not withdraw will receive the grade earned for the course.

Appendix:
The document below, Minimum Grading Standards (for English 1301), is the evaluation instrument used for all student essays submitted in the course. These standards may be modified for shorter assignments such as paragraph-length assignments. In addition, these are considered end-of-course standards.
standards, and may be applied by individual instructors accordingly. These standards also apply to other English courses (1302, 2311, 2322, 2323).
Minimum Grading Standards

To be considered passing, an essay written in English 1301 must exhibit that the student writer has followed both oral and written instructions, organized the paper coherently, developed it with significant content, and written in correct grammatical form.

--A passing essay must be over a topic appropriate to the assignment. If the essay requires a minimum number of examples and points, then that minimum must be met.

--In argumentative and expository discourse, the essay must have a clearly discernible thesis sentence and related topic sentences.

--The paper must reveal some systematic pattern of organization based on or growing out of a central idea.

--The paper must offer specific support of the thesis (facts, examples, explanations, justifications, arguments,).

--The paper must be coherent.

--A passing essay may not contain any combination of three of these categories of errors:

---one or more sentence fragments clearly not used for a specific effect or for generally recognized rhetorical and stylistic purposes

---one or more fused sentences (run-on sentences)

---one or more comma splices

By the end of the course, any paper which does not measure up to these standards should not be awarded a passing grade.

The following errors are considered insufficient alone to cause a paper to fail, unless the number is excessive:

---subject-verb agreement errors

---pronoun-antecedent agreement errors

---spelling errors or confusions between such common words as their-they’re-there, it’s-it’s, no-know, lose-loose-loss, affect-effect, and/or such everyday words as occurrence, occasion, receive, among (not an all-inclusive list)

---spelling errors of less than common words

---misuse of commas, other than the comma splice

---misuse of the apostrophe--other punctuation errors

---shifts in person

---shifts in verb tense

---shifts in voice

---misplaced modifiers
